

Contents

Acknowledgements — V

Préambule — 1

Part I: Writing Music Criticism

Chapter 1

Criticism in the Public Sphere — 31

- 1.1 The notion of criticism — 31
- 1.2 Music criticism as an institution of the public sphere — 36
 - 1.2.1 Habermas and Koselleck: Forays into the public sphere — 36
 - 1.2.2 The function of criticism — 43
 - 1.2.3 Music criticism as a discourse — 49
- 1.3 Schumann and Wagner arrive on the scene — 56
 - 1.3.1 Schumann — 56
 - 1.3.2 Wagner — 63
- 1.4 Conclusion — 69

Chapter 2

Shaping the Music Critic — 72

- 2.1 The music critic: Discourses of identity — 73
 - 2.1.1 The identity of the music critic — 73
 - 2.1.2 The critic as discursive agent — 85
- 2.2 Schumann: Pseudonyms and self-competition — 102
 - 2.2.1 What Schumann? — 103
 - 2.2.2 Self-competition — 108
 - 2.2.3 Conclusion — 115
- 2.3 Wagner: From correspondent to visionary — 118
 - 2.3.1 Wagner as a correspondent in Paris — 119
 - 2.3.2 A visionary in retrospect: Oper und Drama — 133
 - 2.3.3 Conclusion — 149
- 2.4 Conclusion — 152

Chapter 3

Intermezzo — 154

- 3.1 The Romantic ‘Unspeakability Topos’ (Unsagbarkeitstopos) — 154
- 3.2 Music criticism between aesthetics and pragmatics — 157
- 3.3 Sublimating the amorphous: Music as form and structure — 162
- 3.4 The score as text — 165
- 3.5 Conclusion — 169

Part II: Fashioning the Reader

Chapter 4

Forcing the Reader to Side with the Music Critic — 185

- 4.1 Schumann against the masses — 185
 - 4.1.1 Virtuoso criticism — 187
 - 4.1.2 Philistine rhetoric — 191
 - 4.1.3 The Reader as crypto-critic — 196
- 4.2 Wagner: Adapting to the reader audience — 199
 - 4.2.1 The Beethoven novellas — 203
 - 4.2.2 The two Freischütz articles — 210
 - 4.2.3 Music criticism tailored to the reader’s sensibilities — 220
- 4.3 Conclusion — 221

Chapter 5

Activating the Reader’s Judgement — 223

- 5.1 The Davidsbund: Narrative gaps — 223
 - 5.1.1 The “Schwärmbriefe”: Outlines of a critical project — 224
 - 5.1.2 The Davidsbund’s eristic template — 230
 - 5.1.3 Narrative gaps — 233
 - 5.1.4 The Davidsbündler as conductors of opinion — 240
- 5.2 The poetics of emphasis: Wagner, emotions and the polemical register — 242
 - 5.2.1 The polemical register — 246
 - 5.2.2 The “Pariser Berichte” — 258
 - 5.2.3 The Zürich Art Essays („Zürcher Kunstschriften“) — 262
- 5.3 Conclusion — 275

Conclusion — 277

Works Cited — 283

Index — 305