

Contents

Acknowledgements	XIII
Preface	XV
List of Abbreviations	XXVII
Part I: Myth, Commentary, and the History of the Bṛhaddevatā	1
Chapter One: The Basics of the Bṛhaddevatā : Text and Context	3
Pestles and Mantras	3
The Nature of the Text	6
The Text and Its History	8
Macdonell and Tokunaga: Retentive or Expansive Scribes?	11
Building on Arguments about Recensions	12
The Bṛhaddevatā in Intellectual Context	14
The Tradition of Śaunaka	14
The Brāhmaṇas	16
The Nirukta	20
Mīmāṃsā	23
Conclusions	25
Chapter Two: Making Arguments: Canonical Commentary and Mythological Narrative	27
The Category of Canonical Commentary	27
The Anukramaṇī as Commentarial Strategy	30
The Bṛhaddevatā as Commentarial Totalization	33
Mythological Narratives: A Process of Reading	35
Myth as Argument	41
The Case of Vedic Myth	44
The Problem of Historical Origins	45
The Problem of Archetypal Myth	49
Vedic Narrative as Commentarial Argument	52
Conclusions	54

Part Two: Framing the Canon	57
Chapter Three: Patterns of Thought: The Bṛhaddevatā
Introduces Itself	59
On the Question of Coherence	59
Mantra	61
Mantra in the Bṛhaddevatā	68
Devatā as Meta-Grouping	68
Claiming Privilege	70
Classifying Canonical Language	72
The Nature and Origin of Canonical Language	79
Conclusions	88
Chapter Four: Language and Cosmology I: Taxonomies of Mantra ..	91
Grammar and the Power of Language	91
Grammar and Cosmology in India	94
The Motivated List: Supporting Canonical Language	99
Exemplifying Canonical Language: Tracking the
Taxonomies	103
The Role of Native Taxonomies	103
The Bṛhaddevatā 's Taxonomy: A Thick Description	105
The Difference Canon Makes in Taxonomizing:
A Comparative Assessment	125
Conclusions	133
Chapter Five: Language and Cosmology II: Etymologies and
Other Linguistic Speculations	137
The Problems of Etymology	137
A New Terminology	141
Niruktis in Vedic Interpretation	143
The Nirukta	144
Niruktis in the Bṛhaddevatā	146
Tidying up the Universe: Separating the Spheres
through Nirukti	153
Exemplifying the Cosmos: Niruktis as Theology	161
Theology by Subordination	163
Addressing Ambiguities: The Case of Vāc	166
Further Linguistic Speculation on Canon	171

The Question of Meaning	175
The Cosmology of Loose Ends: Closing off the Canon	183
Cultivating the Fields	184
Accounting for Rubble	185
The Rhythm of Canon: The Meters and Tones	186
The Attainment of Brahman through Commentary Itself	187
Conclusions	191

Part Three: Situating the Canon..... 193

Chapter Six: Arguments about Myth: The History of the

Itihāsa/ Ākhyāna Controversy	195
A New Mode of Organization	195
Itihāsa/ Ākhyāna	196
The European Appropriation	199
Origins and Sources	203
A New Approach to Itihāsa	206
A New Approach to the Bṛhaddevatā	209
Conclusions and Projections	211

Chapter Seven: The Power of Persuasion: Ṛṣis in Parity

with the Gods	215
Ṛṣis and Gods in Vedic Context: A Modified Model	215
Euhemerism Mythologized	219
Ṛṣis , Gods, Sons	223
Getting the Gods to Listen	223
A Nirukti Itihāsa : The Ṛṣi Worshipped by Indra	229
The Mutual Dependence of the Praised and the Praiser ...	232
Rescued from Infertility	233
Ṛṣis and Their Divine Fathers	236
Helping Indra Appear	237
Gaining Attention and Absolving Gods	239
Gods/ Ṛṣis / Gods/ Ṛṣis	241
Calming the God	243
Mantras for Twins	246
Beating Indra and Soma in the Race	247
The Ṛṣi Downtrodden: Mantras Misspoken	248

Misperceiving Indra	249
Saramā and the Cows	250
Conclusions	253
Chapter Eight: Pedigree Narratives	255
Lineage in a Late Vedic Framework	255
Stealing Indra's Secret and Surviving	257
The Blind Ṛṣi	259
The Birth of Ṛṣis I	264
The Birth of Ṛṣis II	266
Parents After the Fact	270
Ṛṣis from a Taxonomical View	272
Conclusions	273
Chapter Nine: Myth and Money: The Exchange of Words and Wealth	275
Making Money, Making History	275
Mantra as Medium of Exchange: The Vedic Context	280
Fluidity of Identity: Mantra and Exchange in the Sacrificial Texts	282
Mantra and the Fluidity of Varṇa Identity	285
The Fixing of Identity: Words and Wealth in the Bṛhaddevatā	285
Wandering Currency	287
Selling God in the Marketplace	291
The Ṛṣi Who Won a Wife with Mantras	294
Mantras Begetting Wealth Begetting Mantras Begetting Wealth	300
Conclusions	303
Chapter Ten: Mantra as Cure	305
Healing in a Late Vedic Framework	305
Cakes and Praises	307
Curing Old Age	311
The Language of Revival	313
Deprivation of Mind	313
The Ṛṣi Who Got off Twice	315
Methodical Rejuvenation	319
Conclusions	325

Chapter Eleven: Erasing the Warrior	327
Warrior and Priests in Vedic Context	327
The Stripes of a R̥ṣi	330
Can Kings be R̥ṣis ?	331
The Function of R̥ṣis in War	333
Changing Sexes	335
Saving the Kingdom: The Kṣatriya Purohita	337
Conclusions	340
Chapter Twelve: Selective Ślokas : Cleaning up the Veda	343
The Benefits of the Blatant in Vedic Interpretation	343
A “Liberal Shepherd’s Love Song”	344
The Embarrassed Brahmacārin	347
An Introductory Itihāsa for Purification	358
Conclusions	368
Chapter Thirteen: Salvaging the Sacrifice	369
The Changing Nature of Sacrifice: The Late Vedic Context	369
Haggling over the Sacrifice	371
Cooking the Dog	375
R̥ṣis and Rats, or How to Save a Sacrifice	378
A Mantra to Come out of Hiding	379
Killing Vṛtra	381
Saving the Sacrifice through Dispersal	382
Conclusions	386
Chapter Fourteen: R̥ṣis ’ Power within the Wild	387
The Untamed in Vedic Perspective	387
Rivers, Rats, and R̥ṣis : Encounters with Āranya in the
Bṛhaddevatā	390
The Battle for Authority over the Rivers	391
Butter and Milk for a Thousand Years	395
Rats as Objects of Praise	397
R̥ṣis as Frightened Fish	397
Mantras across the Human and Animal Worlds	399
Pushing Death with a Verse	403
Conclusions	404

Chapter Fifteen: The Archaeology of the Brhaddevatā	405
Interpolation as Historical Lens	405
The Dimensions of the Shorter Recension	406
The Narrative Emphasis	407
A Comparison with the Epics and Purāṇas	409
Triads in the Purāṇas and the Brhaddevatā	414
Gods and Ṛṣis in the Purāṇas and the Brhaddevatā	418
Mantra in the Purāṇas and the Brhaddevatā	420
The Dimensions of the Longer Recension	421
Expanding Śruti	425
The Ritual Emphasis	427
Citing Brāhmaṇas to Settle Controversy and Clarify
Ritual Ideas	428
Clarifying a Ritual Situation Implied by the Ṛg Veda	429
Ritual Theory in the Longer Recension.....	431
The Implications of the Ritual Emphasis	435
Conclusions	439
Chapter Sixteen: New Perspectives on Canonical Exegesis	441
New Questions for the History of Religions	441
Pushing the Boundaries of Canonical Commentary	443
Commentary Is Not Always Elaboration.....	443
Sensual Forms of Commentary	445
Commentary as Interpolation	447
Commentary as Narrative Argument: The Creation of Commentarial Time	448
Commentary as Ritual Philosophy	451
Final Questions for Commentary: The Nature of
Canonical Language	452
On Reading Totalizing Texts: The Encyclopedic Analogy	455
Conclusions	461
Appendix A: The Dating of the Brhaddevatā	465
Appendix B: Vedic Verses Cited in Pratīka Form in the
Brhaddevatā	475
References	495
Index	517