ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is part of the “Advanced Postgraduate Mastercourse in Tropical Forestry and Management“. The thesis is the result of one year’s course work and 15 months research period. I express my sincere gratitude to all persons and institutions that have contributed to the successful completion of my thesis.

My deepest thanks go to my supervisor, Prof. Dr. habil. Holm Uibrig, for his experienced scientific guidance and valuable suggestions throughout the course of this study. With his longstanding experience and vast academic knowledge he gave me an engaged and helpful supervision at every stage of the research and guided me successfully to the performance, presentation and discussion of scientific research.

I thank PD Dr.-Ing. habil. Werner Große profoundly for his helpful and constructive scientific co-supervision of my thesis. With his determined support he helped me considerably to complete and defend my thesis successfully.

To Prof. Dr. Manoel Malheiros Tourinho, Head of the Universidade Federal Rural da Amazônia UFRA, the former Faculdade de Ciências Agrárias do Pará FCAP, Director of the Projeto Várzea, the Instituto Sócio-econômico and the Escritório para Cooperação Internacional in Belém do Pará, Brazil, his wife Prof.^a Dr.^a Dora da Palha and their collaborators I express my very sincere gratitude for their open reception and unrestricted support during my research stay in Lower Amazônia. They integrated me into their departments effectively and facilitated a successful research stay in various ways. Muito obrigado por tudo.

I am grateful to Prof. Dr. Jürgen Pretzsch for providing the opportunity to work at the Institute of International Forestry and Forest Products during the second term of my studies.

Very many thanks to the entire staff at the Institute of International Forestry and Forest products for extending an ever helping hand.

It is a pleasure to deliver my sincere gratitude to Prof. Dr. phil. Joachim Born, Professor of Romance Linguistics at the Friedrich-Schiller-University of Jena, former Director of the Centre for Latin American Studies at the Dresden University of Technology, and all his collaborators for the excellent tuition of the curriculum “Latin American Studies - Brazil“. The completion of this curriculum left me with diverse knowledge about Brazil and helped me immensely to complete my research in a well-grounded way. Special thanks to Hanna Rudorff for her indispensable work in taking scrupulous and steady care of the forming and printing of the book.

The Empresa Brasileira de Pesquisa Agropecuária EMBRAPA and the Museu Paraense Emílio Goeldi MPEG in Belém PA, Brazil, opened their libraries for me. Their repeated guidance through the collections of the Museu Emílio Goeldi in particular gave me inspiring impressions about the species richness of Amazonia. Agradeço muito esp. ao Sr. Jader.

I am thankful to the people of Itacoã, Monte Tabor, Manoel Carneiro and Nova Santa Cruz for their openness and hospitality.

It is a particular pleasure to express my very sincere thanks to my dear Brazilian colleague Prof.^a Dr.^a Wandréia Natalina Machado dos Santos, born in Belém, who gave support in many ways. Eu não esquecerei a sua ajuda muito boa, profissional e de camarada.

Thank you very much to Gemma Carter, Great Britain, and Mrs Pönisch-Pörschke, Dresden, for the conscientious linguistic fine-tuning of my work. Naturally, I take the full responsibility for any mistakes, which may occur.

Thank you to Mr Mahmudur Rahman M. Sc. forest. trop. who gave me good help on computer programmes.

I am grateful to the Carl Duisberg Centren for the financial support. Thank you to Herrn Ulrich Lottmann and his team.

Heartful thanks go to my dear course friends from all over the world. Thank you for sharing such an intensive and enriching time under the guidance of Prof. Pretzsch, Prof. Ubrig and Dr. Pohris. Let us continue our mutual respect, cooperation and friendship. I always will regard this time as a special period of my life.

I owe my success to the encouragement and support of my mother and the compassion of friends.
