

CONTENTS

GET SHARP
NONSURGICAL PERIODONTAL INSTRUMENT SHARPENING

|    |                                                         |
|----|---------------------------------------------------------|
| 11 | WHY SHARPEN?                                            |
| 12 | The purpose of instrument sharpening                    |
| 15 | Advantages of a well sharpened instrument               |
| 16 | Disadvantages of a dull instrument                      |
| 18 | Goals of instrument sharpening                          |
| 20 | Rationale for manual sharpening                         |
|    |                                                         |
| 21 | WHEN SHARPEN?                                           |
| 24 | Maintaining sterility while sharpening during treatment |
|    |                                                         |
| 27 | SHARPENING MATERIALS                                    |
| 28 | Armamentarium                                           |
| 30 | Sharpening stones                                       |
| 30 | Origin                                                  |
| 32 | Shape                                                   |
| 33 | Degree of abrasiveness                                  |
| 37 | Lubricants                                              |
| 38 | Tool for evaluating sharpness                           |
|    |                                                         |
| 39 | ANATOMY OF NONSURGICAL PERIODONTAL INSTRUMENTS          |
| 40 | General features of periodontal instruments             |
| 41 | Handle                                                  |
| 44 | Shank                                                   |
| 47 | Working end                                             |
| 58 | Standard instruments and rigid instruments              |
| 59 | Classification of nonsurgical periodontal instruments   |
| 59 | Sickle scalers                                          |
| 61 | Curets                                                  |
| 62 | Files                                                   |
| 63 | Hoes                                                    |
| 64 | Universal instruments                                   |
| 68 | Area-specific instruments                               |
| 72 | The minimal nonsurgical periodontal instrument kit      |

|      |                                                                                   |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 73   | SHARPENING ERRORS                                                                 |
| 74   | Do not sharpen every instrument using the same angle between stone and handle     |
| 84   | Do not forget sharpening the tip of the curet, whether universal or area-specific |
| 89   | Do not sharpen the instrument frontal surface                                     |
|  |                                                                                   |
| 91   | CORRECT SHARPENING TECHNIQUES                                                     |
| 94   | Sharpening methods                                                                |
| 94   | Stationary stone/moving instrument technique                                      |
| 98   | Stationary instrument/moving stone technique                                      |
| 100  | Sharpening the universal curet                                                    |
| 105  | Sharpening the area-specific curet                                                |
| 111  | Sharpening the scaler                                                             |
|  |                                                                                   |
| 118  | REFERENCES                                                                        |
|  |                                                                                   |
| 119  | VERIFICATION QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS                                                |