

Contents

Foreword	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
PART 1 THE THEORY OF WILDLIFE ETHICS	1
1 Introduction	3
2 Valuing Wildlife	16
3 The Value of Wildness and Ecosystems	33
4 The Value of Species and Biodiversity	49
5 Valuing Wild Animals as Individuals	63
6 The Role of Ethical Theories	77
7 Wildlife Management and Conservation Models	94
8 Recent Movements in Wildlife Management	112
9 Moral Disagreement about Wildlife	129
PART 2 THE PRACTICE OF WILDLIFE ETHICS – CASE STUDIES	145
10 Conservation via Commodification: A Legal Trade in Rhino Horn?	147
11 Hyperabundant Native Species: Deer in the Suburbs	160
12 “Invasive” Animals: Predator Free New Zealand	173
13 Indigenous Wildlife Use: Whaling and the Makah People	190
14 Ex situ Conservation: The Giant Panda	203
15 Wildlife Research: Toe-Clipping	216

16	Zoonotic Disease: Bad Bats?	230
17	The Cost of Green Energy: Wildlife and Wind Power	245
18	Climate Change Interventions: Feeding Polar Bears?	258
19	Conclusion: Wildlife Ethics – The Future	270
	Index	279