

CONTENTS

List of figures	vii
List of tables	x
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction: Perspectives on a history of Western European society after the boom	1

PART I A BIRD'S-EYE VIEW

Three national labour regimes in transition

1 Industrial labour in Western Europe after the economic boom from the perspective of political economy	19
2 Farewell to class struggle and fixed social structures	57
3 Political history from below: labour conflict and new social movements	91
4 Industrial citizens and wage earners: labour relations, social benefits and wages	133
5 Skilled work, production knowledge and educational capital: conflicts of interpretation and readjustments	161

CONTENTS

PART II CLOSE-UPS

Fields of experience and horizons of expectation in times of upheaval

6	Life courses, work and unemployment in times of upheaval	195
7	Transformations in company regimes	234
8	Industrial districts, social spaces, 'problem neighbourhoods' and owner-occupier areas: social spaces and deindustrialization	275
	Conclusion: The history of deindustrialization as a history of contemporary problems	305
	Notes	315
	Sources and literature	360
	Index	388