

Contents

Abstract	1	D. Discussion	8
A. Introduction	2	1. Presence and variation of fruit and seed characters . .	8
B. Material and methods	3	a) Fruits	8
1. Material	3	b) Seeds	11
2. Methods	3	2. Grouping of genera on the base of fruit and seed
a) Terminology	3	characters	17
Definition of characters	3	3. Comparison with other classifications	19
b) Descriptive part	6	4. Conclusions	23
Morphological data	6	E. Synoptical key to the genera	24
The presence of characters	7	F. Generic descriptions	32
Quantitative characters	7	Acknowledgements	82
Descriptive scheme	7	References	83
c) Drawings	7	List of material studied	84
C. Description of fruits and seeds in Annonaceae	8	Plates 1-50	102