

Table of Contents

CHAPTER I: Introduction

CHAPTER I.0

1 Preface: The Study of Exploration

Heidi Keller, Klaus Schneider, Bruce Henderson

2 Definitions and Distinctions

3 The Functions of Exploration: A Psychobiological Perspective "Ultimate Causes"

4 "Proximate Causes"

7 The Contents of This Book

8 1. Functional and Motivational Mechanisms of Exploration

10 2. Development and Individual Differences

11 3. The Interconnections of Exploratory Behavior and other Behavioral Systems

13 4. Applied Perspectives

13 Additional References

CHAPTER I.1

15 Fairy Tales and Curiosity. Exploratory Behavior in Literature for Children or the Futile Attempt to Keep Girls from the Spindle

Rosemarie M. Rigol

17 Evidence of Curiosity and Exploratory Behavior in Fairy Tales

19 Types of Exploratory Behavior in Fairy Tales

VI TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 19 Movement
- 21 Handling and Sensual Experience
- 24 Evaluation of Exploratory Behavior in Fairy Tales
- 25 Curiosity as Subject of the Story
- 26 Curiosity as a Part of Development
- 27 The Right to be Curious
- 28 Literary Culture and Children's Development

CHAPTER II: Function and Motivational Mechanics of Exploration

CHAPTER II.2

- 31 An Ethological Conception of Exploratory Behavior

Christiane Buchholtz, Andrea Persch

- 33 The Sensoric Part
- 34 The Motoric Part
- 34 The Action Readiness System
- 37 The Releasing of Exploration in this Model
- 38 Appetitive Behavior in the Behavior System of Exploration
- 40 References

CHAPTER II.3

- 43 The Neurobiological Foundation of Exploration

Finn K. Jellestad, Gry S. Follesø, Holger Ursin

- 44 Components of the Exploratory Behavioral System

44	Exploration
44	Orienting Responses
45	Habituation
46	Novelty and Fear
46	Situation-Specific Behavior
47	Other Topics Related to Exploratory Behavior
47	A Neurological Model of Exploration
47	General Anatomy of Cognitive Information
49	The Hippocampal Formation
49	Orienting Response and Habituation
50	Exploration and Novelty
52	Spontaneous Alternation
52	The Amygdaloid Complex
53	Orienting Responses and Habituation
54	Exploration and Amygdala Lesions: Sensory Changes or Emotional ?
54	Sensory Changes
55	Emotional Changes
56	Conclusion
56	Specific Transmitter Systems
58	Other Structures
58	Conclusion
59	References

CHAPTER II.4

65 Two Characteristics of Surprise: Action Delay and Attentional Focus

Michael Niepel, Udo Rudolph, Achim Schützwohl,
Wulf-Uwe Meyer

67 The Experimental Paradigm

68	Effects of Schema Discrepancy
70	Duration of the Surprise Reaction
71	Generality of Effects
72	Number of Trials
75	General Discussion
76	References

CHAPTER II.5

79 Interest and Curiosity. The Role of Interest in a Theory of Exploratory Action

Andreas Krapp

80	The Neglect of Content in Curiosity and Exploration Research
80	The Research Perspective of General Psychology
81	The Research Perspective of Differential Psychology
82	The Theory of Action Research Perspective
82	Unsolved Problems in Curiosity and Exploration Research
84	A Concept of Object-specific Interests
85	Interest Object
86	Structural Components of the Interest-Oriented Person-Object-Relationship
87	Special Characteristics of an Interest-Oriented Person-Object-Relationship
90	Interest and Exploration
90	Interests Determine the Content and Direction of Diversive Exploration
91	Interests Influence the Goal Orientation of Specific Curiosity and Exploration
92	Interests Influence the Design of an Exploratory Action
92	Interests Serve as the Basis of Content Continuity in a Sequence of Exploratory Actions

94	Interests Determine the Nature and Orientation of Cognitive Construction
96	Summary and Conclusion

CHAPTER II.6

101 Interest and Exploration: Exploratory Action in the Context of Interest Genesis

Benedykt Fink

102	The Interests of Individuals
104	The Characteristics of Beginning Interests
105	Structural Aspects of Early Interests
107	The Interest Genesis Project
107	Empirical Findings Relating to the Interest Genesis Model
108	Typical Structures of Interest-Oriented Person-Object-Relations
109	Global Developmental Principles of Interest Development
110	Specific Components of Development
112	Hypothetical Models of Structural Change
114	Discussion - Interest Genesis as both the Result and a Conditional Factor of Exploratory Behavior
115	Exploratory Behavior as a Factor in Interest Genesis
116	The Importance of Interests in the Development of Exploratory Behavior
117	Conclusions
118	References

CHAPTER III: Development and Interindividual Differences

CHAPTER III.7

123 The Relationship Between Attachment, Temperament, and Exploration

Dymphna C. van den Boom

124 The Balance between Attachment and Exploration

125 The Influence of Infant Irritability on Exploration

126 Exploratory Behavior in the First Year

130 Infant Exploration: Relations to Home Environment and Security of Attachment

133 Method

133 Subjects

134 Design

135 Variables and Data Collection Procedures

138 Results

138 Effect of the Intervention on Infant Exploratory Behavior

141 Effect of Intervention on the Quality of Attachment

143 Discussion

144 Explanatory Models

145 References

CHAPTER III.8

151 Interindividual Differences in the Development of Exploratory Behavior: Methodological Considerations

Clemens Trudewind, Klaus Schneider

154 The Behavior Assessment Approach
156 The Development of a Parents' Questionnaire
158 Analysis of the Dimensionality of the Parents' Questionnaire
165 The Incentive-Reactivity Assessment Approach
166 Development of a Puppet-Show Instrument Assessment Procedure
170 First Steps in Validating the Curiosity Motive-Scores
173 Conclusions
174 References

CHAPTER III.9

177 Preschoolers' Exploratory Behavior: The Influence of the Social and Physical Context

Klaus Schneider, Lothar Unzner

177 Children's Exploration in Natural Contexts
179 An Empirical Study
180 Method
181 Subjects
181 Procedure
181 Data Collection and Coding

184	Results and Discussion
184	Exploratory Behavior of the Children
186	Control Behaviors of the Mothers
188	Children's Exploration and the Distance between Mother and Children
195	References

CHAPTER III.10

199 A Developmental Analysis of Exploration Styles

Heidi Keller

203	An Empirical Study
207	Results
209	Discussion
210	References

CHAPTER III.11

213 Individual Differences in Experience-Producing Tendencies

Bruce Henderson

213	Individual Differences in the Tendency to Explore
215	The Category of Experience-Producing Tendencies
216	EPTs and Intelligence
219	A Recent Study of Curiosity/Exploration - Intelligence Relations
221	The Need for Developmental Designs
223	Moderating Influences on EPTs
223	Implications and Conclusion
224	References

CHAPTER IV: The Interconnections of Exploratory Behavior and other Behavioral Systems

CHAPTER IV.12

227 The Active Exploratory Nature of Perceiving:
Some Developmental Implications

Ad W. Smitsman.

228 The Active Exploratory Nature of Perceiving
231 Perceptual Search and Information for Action
232 Developmental Implications
233 The Task Specificity of Early Exploratory Activities
235 Exploration and the Development of Action Skills
238 References

CHAPTER IV.13

241 The Process and Consequences of Manipulative Exploration

Axel Schölmerich

243 The Process of Exploration
243 Different Models in the Exploration Literature
244 A Comparison with Habituation
245 Problems of Obversion: from Quantities of Behavior to Quantities of Information
246 The Sequential Organization of Exploratory Behavior
247 An Empirical Study
247 Data Collection
247 The Object

- 248 The Sample
- 248 The Coding Procedure
- 249 Results
- 249 Amount of Exploratory Behavior
- 253 Amount of Information
- 254 Interrelationships between Exploration and Information Acquisition
- 256 The Regulation of Exploratory Action and Interindividual Differences in Strategies of Exploration
- 257 References

CHAPTER IV.14

- 259 Motivational and Cognitive Determinants of Exploration

Shulamith Kreitler, Hans Kreitler

- 260 The Nature of Exploration: The Five Factors of Exploration
- 265 The Motivational Determinants of Exploration: The Cognitive Orientation of Curiosity
- 270 Cognitive Determinants of Exploration: Patterns of Meaning Variables
- 279 Cognitive Motivation and Cognitive Dynamics of Exploratory Modes
- 281 Main Findings, Major Conclusions, and Some Afterthoughts
- 282 References

CHAPTER V: Applied Perspectives

CHAPTER V.15

287 Computer Systems as Exploratory Environments
Siegfried Greif

288 Simplicity in Human-Computer Interaction
289 Exploratory Environments and Minimalist Design
290 The "Simple is always Best" Hypothesis
290 Complexity and Exploration Theory
293 Definition of the Complexity of a Task Situation
295 Design of Systems with adaptable Complexity
296 The "Individual System"
297 Empirical Research
302 Research Perspectives: Exploratory Activities in Error Situations
304 References

CHAPTER V.16

307 Urban Development for Children Reexploring a New Research Area *

Dietmar Görlitz, Richard Schröder

308 Psychologists' Curiosity about the City and its Children
308 Special Features and Innovations
309 On the Tradition of the Subject
309 An Articulated Interest
311 A City Discovers its Children. Herten as a Model
311 Kinderfreunde "Children's Friends"
311 History

- 312 Formal Organization
- 312 The "Children's Friends" Office
- 313 Activities of "Children's Friends"
- 314 City Map for Children
- 318 Child-friendly Living
- 318 Basics of Planning and Herten's Philosophy
- 320 "Child-friendly Living": The Project
- 324 A University and a Town as Partners - Child-centered Planning as a Cooperative Task
- 324 On the Cooperation between the Town of Herten and the Technical University of Berlin
- 325 The Four Stages of the Herten Design
- 328 Outlook on Researchers Curiosity and Forms of Action Appropriate to Children
- 330 Postscript
- 330 References

CHAPTER VI: Epilogue

CHAPTER VI.17

- 333 Applause for Aurora:
Sociobiological Considerations on Exploration and Play

Robert Fagen

- 339 References

- 341 Author Index
- 349 Subject Index
