

CONTENTS

HOW TO AVOID MISTAKES §	FORMS AND STRUCTURES	Page
	A. Nouns	13
95	1. Gender and number	13
	a) Gender	13
	b) Special plurals and peculiarities of spelling	14
	c) Plurals of compound nouns	14
	d) Number: hair, fruit, coal; fish, sheep	14
	e) Number: nouns used only in the singular (advice, furniture, news, etc.)	15
	f) Number: nouns used only in the plural (scissors, trousers, etc.)	15
	g) Number: singular and plural; subject-verb concord (clothes, surroundings, stairs, etc.)	16
	h) Concord	16
	i) Concord: some peculiarities	17
	j) Concord: collective nouns	18
	k) Number and concord: people	18
	l) Number: million, thousand, hundred, dozen	18
	m) Number: weights, measures, etc.	19
	n) Number: parts of the body, articles of clothing, etc.	19
96	2. Genitive	20
	a) The form of the genitive	20
	b) Double genitive	20
	c) The genitive with nouns denoting a distance or period of time	20
	d) 'of' or s-genitive	21
	e) The of-attribute	22
95/96	Situational practice: The Wrong One	22
	B. Articles	23
97	1. The definite article	23
	a) Personal names	23
	b) Names of countries	24
	c) Names of mountains, rivers, lakes, etc.	24
	d) Names of streets, parks, bridges, squares, buildings, etc.	25
	e) Names of species, materials and abstract nouns	26
	f) school, church, prison, hospital	26
	g) most, all; half, double, etc.	27
98	2. The indefinite article	28
	a) Profession, trade, nationality, religion	28
	b) Countables or uncountables	28
	c) The position of the indefinite article	29

		Page
	Situational practice: Honeymoon Abroad	29
	C. Pronouns	30
99	1. Personal pronouns	30
	a) 'he, she, it, they' and 'there' as equivalents of German 'es'	30
	b) Other equivalents of German 'es'	31
100	2. Reflexive and reciprocal pronouns	32
	a) Emphasizing pronouns	32
	b) Reflexive pronouns	32
	c) Reciprocal pronouns	33
101	3. Possessive adjectives and pronouns	33
	a) Possessive adjective or definite article	33
	b) The possessive adjective with 'own'	34
	c) Possessive pronouns (mine, yours, his, hers, etc.)	34
	d) 'of' + possessive pronouns	35
102	4. Demonstrative pronouns	35
103	5. Interrogative pronouns	36
	a) who, whose, what, which, how	36
	b) who, whose, what, which	37
104	6. Relative pronouns	38
	a) Restrictive and non-restrictive relative clauses	38
	b) Contact clauses and others	38
	c) who, whose, whom, which, that, what or nothing	39
105	7. Indefinite pronouns	41
	a) 'some' and 'any' and their compounds	41
	b) nobody, nothing; none, neither	42
	c) much, many; little, few; a lot of	43
99–105	Situational practice: The Wedding Present	44
106/107	D. Adjectives and adverbs	46
	1. Comparison of adjectives and adverbs	46
	a) '-er, -est' or 'more, most' or irregular forms	46
	b) German 'immer'	46
	c) Comparison with exceptional forms	47
	d) Comparison in the sentence	47

	Page
2. Adjectives and adverbs	48
a) Adjectives or adverbs	48
b) Predicative adjective or adverb	48
3. Adjectives used as nouns	49
4. Adjectives with 'one/ones'	50
5. Adverbs with or without '-ly'	51
6. Verbs instead of adverbs	51
7. The position of adverbs	52
Situational practice: Sailor's Yarn	53
E. Auxiliary verbs	54
108 1. Questions and negatives	54
a) Yes/no questions and negative sentences	54
b) Questions with 'who, whose, which, what, where, when, how'	55
c) 'do' or no 'do' in negative sentences	55
d) Negative and interrogative sentences with 'have'	56
e) 'have' with habitual actions and particular occasions	57
108 2. Short sentences and question tags	57
a) Short answers	57
b) Short statements	58
c) Question tags	58
109 3. Defective auxiliaries	59
a) Ability: can/could – to be able to	59
b) Ability in the past: could – was/were able to	60
c) could: past or conditional	60
d) Permission: may/might – must not – to be allowed to	61
e) Possibility: may (might) – may (might) have	61
f) Obligation and necessity: must – to have to	62
g) Absence of obligation and necessity: need not – don't have to	63
h) Absence of obligation and necessity in the past: didn't need to do – needn't have done	63
i) Prohibition or absence of obligation: must not – need not	64
j) Deduction (supposition): must (have) – can't have	64
k) shall (should) – to be to	65
l) should (ought to) do – should (ought to) have done	65

HOW TO AVOID MISTAKES
§

	Page
m) Negative purpose	66
n) will (would) – to want to – to be going to – I wish – to pretend to	66
o) dare: auxiliary or regular verb	67
p) need: auxiliary or regular verb	68
108/109 Situational practice: Where's Tim?	69
110 F. Simple or continuous form	70
a) Present tense	70
b) Past tense	71
c) Verbs not normally used in the continuous form: hear, see, smell, taste	71
d) Other verbs not used in the continuous form / series of actions	72
e) Passive voice	73
f) Repeated actions	74
Situational practice: The New Flat	74
Just for Fun	75
111 G. Tenses	76
1. The past and perfect tenses	76
a) Past tense or present perfect	76
b) Past tense or present perfect (for, since).	77
c) Past tense or present perfect in adverbial clauses with since	78
d) Present perfect simple or continuous	78
e) Past tense or present perfect (simple or continuous)	79
f) Past tense or past perfect (simple or continuous)	80
2. The future	81
a) Future 'shall/will' or present tense	81
b) 'going to' or 'shall/will'	82
c) Present continuous or 'shall/will'	83
d) Future continuous or future perfect (simple or continuous) .	84
3. Reported speech	84
a) Statements	85
Statements with 'must, need' and other auxiliaries	86
b) Questions	86
Questions with 'shall, could' and other auxiliaries	87
c) Commands and requests	88
d) Changes of demonstratives and adverbs	89
Situational practice: The Judge and the Vagabond	90
Just for Fun	91

	Page
H. Conditional clauses	92
a) Type I: open condition	92
Variations	92
b) Type II: improbable condition/unreal present	93
Variations	94
c) Type III: impossible condition/unreal past	95
d) Types I, II, III mixed	95
e) Types I, II, III mixed	96
f) Inversion with 'were, had, should'	96
Situational practice: Snowdon	97
Just for Fun	98
I. The non-finite forms of full verbs	98
1. The infinitive	98
a) The infinitive without 'to', with 'to' or with 'as to'	98
b) The infinitive after interrogatives	99
c) The infinitive as an attribute	99
d) Active or passive infinitive	100
e) Object + infinitive with or without 'to'	101
f) I (don't) want (you) to ...	102
g) Object + infinitive or that clause	102
h) 'for' construction	103
2. The -ing form (gerund and participle)	104
a) The -ing form (gerund) as a subject (It's no use, etc.)	104
b) The -ing form (gerund) as a predicative complement (worth, busy, near, like)	105
c) The -ing form (gerund) as an object (verbs followed by the gerund)	105
d) The -ing form (gerund) as an object (like, hate, prefer, etc.)	106
e) The -ing form (gerund) as an object (stop, remember, regret, try)	106
f) The -ing form (gerund) after prepositions	107
g) Preposition 'to' + -ing form (gerund) or 'to' + infinitive	108
h) The -ing form (gerund) instead of an adverbial clause	108
i) The -ing form (gerund) with a subject of its own	109
j) General revision: -ing form (gerund) or infinitive	109
k) The -ing form (participle) after 'go, come, lie, remain', etc.	110
l) Object + -ing form (participle) or + infinitive after verbs of perception	110
m) -ing form (present participle) and past participle instead of relative clauses	111

113/114

115/116

HOW TO AVOID MISTAKES §		Page
	n) The -ing form (participle) instead of an adverbial clause . . .	111
	o) Misrelated participle	112
117	p) 'lassen'	113
	r) General revision: infinitive, -ing form or past participle . . .	114
113–117	Situational practice: The Misunderstood Abbreviation	115
	Just for Fun	116
118	K. Verbs and their complements	116
	a) The object with or without 'to'	116
	b) The passive voice	117
	c) Reflexive verbs	118
	Situational practice: Smartness.	119
119	L. The use of certain conjunctions, adverbs and prepositions	119
	a) German 'auch (nicht)'	119
	b) German 'wenn'	120
	c) German 'während'	121
	d) German 'da, weil'	121
	e) German 'wie'	122
	Situational practice: Just for Fun	123
120	M. Word order	123
	a) Normal word order or inversion	123
	b) Inversion after negative or restrictive adverbs	124
	c) Inversion after quoted speech	124
	d) The use of 'it is/was' for emphasis	125
	Situational practice: Waterloo	125
	Learner's Key to Exercises	127