
Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Prolegomena	1
1.2	Problem and Application of the Concept of Seduction	3
1.3	Gaze and Desire	6
1.4	The Taboo and Transgression as Seduction	9
1.5	Film as a Seduction Machine and Seductive Simulation	11
	References	15
2	Film and Philosophy	17
2.1	The Seduction Theory in the Context of Philosophy	17
2.2	Postmodernism, Simulation and Seduction	20
2.3	The Action Image as Tactile Cinema	24
2.4	The Classic Western as Performative Seduction	27
	References	33
3	Body, Cinema and Performance	35
3.1	Choreography and Seduction	35
3.2	Schizoanalysis	38
3.3	Body Construction and Performative Cinema	40
3.4	Choreography and Violence	42
	References	49
4	Seduction and Ethics	51
4.1	The Sovereignty of the Senseless Act	51
4.2	Seductive Surface—Bourgeois Abyss	53
4.3	Ethical Challenge and Fictionalized History	58
4.4	Ethical Challenge in Interpersonal Dynamics	65
	References	71

5	Seduction and Genre	73
5.1	Genre Bending	73
5.2	Ciphers of the Other and the Alien	75
5.3	Disturbance as a Strategy	77
5.4	Seduction Theory Genre Analysis	80
5.5	Ambiguity, Convention and Irritation	82
	References	89
6	Seduction to Myth	91
6.1	Seduction to Mythical Thinking	91
6.2	Invitation to the Apocalypse	95
6.3	Mythical Body Cinema	98
	References	107
7	Seduction, Performance and Pop Culture	109
7.1	Film as a Medium of Popular Culture	109
7.2	What is Performative Cinema?	110
7.3	Performative Body Cinema	114
7.4	Film as Meta-Pop	118
7.5	The Seduction Theory as a Method of Popular Culture Research	121
7.6	Comic Adaptations, Franchise Culture and ‘Realism’	123
	References	128
8	Seduction and Exploration of Existence	131
8.1	Existence and Temporality	131
8.2	Filmic Conventions of Temporality	133
8.3	Ecstasies of Temporality	138
	References	141
9	Perspectives of Seduction Theory	143
9.1	A Seduction Theory of Media?	143
9.2	Hyperreality and Ludology	146
9.3	Terrorism, Propaganda, Ideology and Seduction	150
9.4	Outlook	154
	References	155