

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
INTRODUCTION: Domestic and International Multiculturalism: Children's Literature about Africans and African Americans Vivian Yenika-Agbaw & Mary Napoli	xi
SECTION I: BLACK MULTICULTURAL LITERATURE THAT TARGETS PRE-K-3
CHAPTER 1: Fathers Know Best: Traditional Families in Recently Published African American Children's Literature for the Early Grades Ruth McKoy Lowery	3
CHAPTER 2: Powerful Words: Celebrating Poetry with Young Children Mary Napoli	18
CHAPTER 3: Representing Cultural Identity in Children's Literature: Black Children in Their Communities Janet Helmberger	33
CHAPTER 4: Spirituality and Young Children: Literature as a Support for Resilience and Coping Patricia Crawford	45

CHAPTER 5: Sharing Culturally Relevant Literature with Preschool Children and Their Families	59
April Whatley Bedford & Renée Casbergue

SECTION II: BLACK MULTICULTURAL LITERATURE THAT TARGETS UPPER ELEMENTARY AND MIDDLE GRADES: 4–8

CHAPTER 6: “I Want My Mama!”: Young Black Adolescents Reading through the Grief	75
Shanetia Clark & Kimetta Hairston
CHAPTER 7: African American Female Literacies and the Role of Double Dutch in the Lives and Literature for Black Girls	90
Rachel Grant
CHAPTER 8: Discrimination and Preadolescence: Two Readers’ Constructions	106
Ann Berger-Knorr
CHAPTER 9: Daring to Dream: Characters in Coretta Scott King Author Award-Winning Books and Their Pursuits of the American Dream	122
Linda T. Parsons & Michele D. Castleman
CHAPTER 10: Representing Black Experiences: Engaging Hearts and Minds with Excellent Nonfiction Literature	139
Barbara Marinak
CHAPTER 11: Riddles as Critical Thinking Tools: A Case of African Traditional Oral Literature in the Social Studies Classroom	157
Lewis Asimeng-Boahene

SECTION III: BLACK MULTICULTURAL LITERATURE THAT TARGETS HIGH SCHOOL GRADES: 9–12

CHAPTER 12: Reading “Black” Poverty in Postcolonial Anglophone Caribbean Young Adult Fiction: Michael Anthony’s The Year in San Fernando and Cyril Everard Palmer’s The Cloud with the Silver Lining	173
Denise Jarrett

CHAPTER 13: Alternative Families in Young Adult Novels: Disrupting the Status Quo Corinna Crafton	191
CHAPTER 14: Disability in Africana Adolescent Literature Vivian Yenika-Agbaw	209
CHAPTER 15: Lessons on Discrimination: Historical Fiction and the Culture of Struggle Lauren Lewis	219
CHAPTER 16: Keeping Hope Alive: Reading and Discussing Adolescent Novels and Modern-Day Miracles Barbara A. Ward & Deanna Day	233
CHAPTER 17: The Exoticizing of African American Children and of Children of Color: Care Work and Critical Literacy Tamara Lindsey	251
Afterword: Global Literacy: Implications for the Classroom Mary Napoli & Vivian Yenika-Agbaw	265
Appendix: Listing of African American and Small Multicultural Children's Book Publishers	271
Contributors	273
Index	281