

Contents

Contributors	xi
Preface	xv

Section 1: Assessment of Functional Communication 1

1. A Conceptual Framework for a Functional Approach to Acquired Neurogenic Disorders of Communication and Swallowing 3
Linda E. Worrall
2. The Assessment of Activity Limitation in Functional
Communication: Challenges and Choices 19
Bronwyn J. Davidson and Linda E. Worrall
3. Beyond Activity: Measuring Participation in Society and Quality of Life 35
Fabiane M. Hirsch and Audrey L. Holland
4. Perspectives and Priorities: Accessing User Views in Functional Communication Assessment 55
Susan P. Parr and Sally C. Byng
5. Health-Care Restructuring and its Focus on Functional Outcomes in the United States 67
Carol M. Frattali
6. The Assessment of Functional Communication in Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Populations 81
Rosemary Baker

Section 2: Functional Communication Therapy Approaches 101

7. Functional Communication and the Workplace:
A Neglected Domain 103
Claire Penn and Dilys Jones

8. Forging Partnerships with Volunteers 125
Linda E. Worrall and Edwin Yiu
9. Finding, Defining, and Refining Functionality in Real Life for People Confronting Aphasia 137
Jon G. Lyon
10. Social Approaches to the Management of Aphasia 162
Nina N. Simmons-Mackie

Section 3: Assessment and Treatment of Functional Communication in Specific Populations 189

11. The Influence of Professional Values on the Functional
Communication Approach in Aphasia 191
Linda E. Worrall
12. Functional Communication in Cognitive Communication Disorders
Following Traumatic Brain Injury 206
Brigitte M. Larkins, Linda E. Worrall, and Louise M. H. Hickson
13. A Framework for the Assessment and Treatment of Functional
Communication in Dementia 220
Rosemary Lubinski and J. B. Orange
14. Assessment and Treatment of Functional Communication in Dysarthria 247
Pamela M. Enderby
15. Assessment and Treatment of Functional Swallowing in Dysphagia 262
Barbara C. Sonies
16. Assessment and Treatment of Functional Communication Following
Right Hemisphere Damage 276
Leora R. Cherney and Anita S. Halper

Section 4: Assessment and Treatment of Functional Communication in Different Settings 293

17. A Socioenvironmental Approach to Functional Communication in Hospital In-Patients 295
Robyn T. McCooey, Deborah Toffolo, and Chris Code

18. Assessment and Treatment of Functional Communication in an Extended Care Facility	312
Deborah J.Pye, Linda E. Worrall, and Louise M.H. Hickson
Section 5: Future Directions and Research Needs	329
19. Future Directions and Research Issues in Functional Communication Assessment and Treatment	331
Linda E. Worrall
Index	345