

Contents

Preface	VII
Abbreviations	XV

Chapter 1: Ezra on the Move: Trends and Perspectives on the Character and his Book

1.1. Introduction	1
1.2. The Canonical Context of the Book of Ezra	2
1.2.1. Ezra and the Chronistic History Writing	2
1.2.2. Ezra & Nehemiah or Ezra and Nehemiah	5
1.2.3. Perspective	6
1.3. Literary-critical Approach: Sources and Redaction?	6
1.4. History Debated	8
1.5. Perspectives	12
1.5.1. New Literary Analysis	12
1.5.1.1. Tamara C. Eskenazi	13
1.5.1.2. Harm van Grol	13
1.5.1.3. A Narrative Analysis	14
1.5.1.4. A Reading of Ezra 3–6	14
1.5.1.5. Conclusions and Suppositions	18
1.5.2. Social Science Approach	18
1.5.3. Rethinking Historiography	20
1.6. Is the Book of Ezra to be Read as a Particularistic Program?	22

Chapter 2: Continuity and Community:

The Belief-System of the Book of Ezra	24
2.1. Introduction	24
2.2. The Idea of a Belief-System	24
2.3. The Book of Ezra	26
2.4. The Belief-System of the Book of Ezra	30

2.4.1. Time and the Past: History	30
2.4.2. Power	34
2.4.3. Sacred Space: The Temple	36
2.4.4. Confined Community	37
2.5. Conclusion	42

*Chapter 3: The Idea of Thorah in Ezra 7–10:*

A Functional Analysis	43
3.1. Introduction	43
3.2. Three Concepts	44
3.2.1. The Persian Period	44
3.2.2. Israel	45
3.2.3. Identity	45
3.3. The Book of Ezra	45
3.4. Ezra as an Answer to the Religious Crisis	47
3.5. Aspects of Law in Ezra 7–10	47
3.5.1. Ezra Introduced as ‘Skilled in the Law of Moses’ (7,6)	47
3.5.2. Ezra’s Aim: Studying the Law (7,10)	48
3.5.3. Commandments and Ordinances (7,11)	49
3.5.4. Aspects of Law in the Decree of Artaxerxes (7,12–26)	50
3.5.5. The Opening Scene of the Mixed Marriage Crisis (9,1–5) ..	52
3.5.6. Ezra’s Prayer (9,6–15)	53
3.5.7. The Reaction of the People (10)	54
3.5.8. A Tentative Conclusion	55
3.6. Law as Expression of Religion	56

Chapter 4: On the Identity of the ‘Foreign’ Women

in Ezra 9–10	58
4.1. The Mixed Marriage Crisis in Ezra and Nehemiah	58
4.1.1. Introduction	58
4.1.2. Text-Internal Motivation	58
4.1.3. Text-External Motivations	61
4.2. Indications for Mixed Ethnicity in the Persian Period?	62
4.2.1. The List of Ezra 2 // Nehemiah 7	62
4.2.2. Tell al-Mazār Ostrakon VII	65
4.2.3. Samaria Papyri	66
4.2.4. The Polytheistic Religion of Ancient Maqqēdāh	67
4.2.5. Conclusions	70

4.3. Competing Temples	70
4.4. Stereotyping the Other	71
4.5. The Identity of the Strange Women in Ezra 9–10	72

Chapter 5: Social Consciousness in the Persian Period:

The Case of Nehemiah 5	74
5.1. Introduction	74
5.2. Persian Period	76
5.3. Nehemiah 5,1–13	78
5.4. שְׁמִיטָה š'emittā , 'Remission'	81
5.5. Conclusion	84

Chapter 6: Nehemiah 9 and the Problematic Concept of Context

(Sitz im Leben)	85
6.1. Introduction	85
6.2. A few Remarks on the Book of Nehemiah	86
6.3. The Gattung of Nehemiah 9,6–37	87
6.4. The Sitz im Leben of Nehemiah 9,6–37	89
6.5. The Concept of Sitz im Leben	90
6.6. Critical Remarks on Boda's Proposal	91
6.7. Sitz im Leben : A Problematic Concept	93
6.8. Text and Context: Between History and Hermeneutics	95

Chapter 7: Nehemiah as a Mosaic Heir:

Nehemiah 13 as Appropriation of Deuteronomy 7	97
7.1. Introduction: Veijola's View on the Legacy of Moses	97
7.2. Ezra and Nehemiah as Key Figures	98
7.3. The Mixed Marriage Crisis in Ezra and Nehemiah	99
7.4. The Story in Nehemiah 13	100
7.4.1. Notes on the Composition of Nehemiah	100
7.4.2. Nehemiah's Inspection and Solution	102
7.4.3. Ashdodite as an Identity Marker	103
7.4.4. Nehemiah's Measures and their Difference with Ezra	103
7.4.5. Biblical Tradition in Nehemiah's Narrative	104
7.5. The Idea of Appropriation	106
7.6. Nehemiah as a Mosaic Heir	107

Chapter 8: Do the Earliest Samaritan Inscriptions Already Indicate a Parting of the Ways?	109
8.1. Introduction	109
8.2. Inscriptions from Mount Gerizim	111
8.3. Elements of Samaritanism?	113
8.4. Historical Conclusions	116
 Chapter 9: Sabbath at Elephantine: A Short Episode in the Construction of Jewish Identity	118
9.1. Sabbath as a Jewish Identity Marker	118
9.2. On the Origin of the Sabbath	120
9.3. The Garrison at Elephantine	123
9.4. Sabbath at Elephantine	124
9.4.1. A Request to Yedanjah on Provisions	124
9.4.2. Instructions on Vegetables, Barley and More	124
9.4.3. Others	125
9.4.4. Military Duties	125
9.5. Sabbath in a Multi-Cultural Environment	126
 Chapter 10: Yehudite Identity in Elephantine	128
10.1. Preliminary Remark	128
10.2. Yehudites at Elephantine	129
10.3. Dimensions of Identity	130
10.3.1. Identity and Tradition	130
10.3.2. Identity and the Geography of Time	131
10.3.2.1. Passover	131
10.3.2.2. Sabbath	132
10.3.3. Identity and the Life Cycle	135
10.3.4. Identity and the Topography of Space	137
10.3.5. Identity and 'the Other'	138
10.3.6. Wisdom as Intercultural Identity	139
10.3.7. Identity and Social Stratification	140
10.3.8. Identity and the Military	141
10.4. Yehudite Identity in Elephantine	142

Chapter 11: The Construction of Early Jewish Identity:

Reading 1 Maccabees	143
11.1. Preliminary Remark	143
11.2. 1 Maccabees	143
11.3. Dimensions of Identity in 1 Maccabees	144
11.3.1. Identity and Tradition	144
11.3.2. Identity and the Geography of Time	147
11.3.3. Identity and the Life Cycle	149
11.3.4. Identity and the Topography of Space	150
11.3.5. Identity and 'the Other'	150
11.3.6. Wisdom as Intercultural Identity	152
11.3.7. Identity and Social Stratification	152
11.3.8. Identity and the Military	152
11.4. Jewish Identity in 1 Maccabees	152
11.5. Ezra, Nehemiah, and the Construction of Early Jewish Identity: Some Conclusions	153
 Sources and Acknowledgements	 155
 Bibliography	 157
 Source Index	 177
 Author Index	 185