Session I Pathobiochemistry of Heme Metabolism

Moderators: M. Maines, New York, and L. Eales, Cape Town

Regulation of Heme Biosynthesis in Hepatic and Erythroid Cells: A Brief Introduction to the Pathobiochemistry of Human Porphyrrias U.A. Meyer. (With 1 Figure)	3
Differential Patterns of Heme and Porphyrin Biosynthesis in Liver and Kidney: Metal Ion Blockade of δ -Aminolevulinate Synthase Introduction by Porphyrinogenic Agents M.D. Maines, M.J. Tomio, and V. Janousek. (With 1 Figure)	8
The Regulatory Function of the Mitochondrial Inner Membrane in the Overall Ferrochelatase Reaction I. Romslo and M.E. Koller. (With 5 Figures)	15
Permissive Effects of Hormone on the Induction of δ -Aminolevulinic Acid Synthase (ALA-S) in Cultured Chick-Embryo Liver Cells S. Sassa and A. Kappas	22

Session II Pathogenesis and Differential Diagnosis of Acute Hepatic Porphyrrias

Moderators: M. Doss, Marburg, and P. Koskelo, Helsinki

Biochemical and Clinical Transitions Between the Hereditary Hepatic Porphyrrias: New Concepts M. Doss and R. v. Tiepermann. (With 3 Figures)	29
A New Approach to Porphyrrias C.A. Pierach and Z.J. Petryka. (With 1 Figure)	46
The Clinical Chemistry of Variegate Porphyrria With Special Reference to the Identification of a New Plasma-Marker Porphyrin L. Eales, R.S. Day, and N.R. Pimstone. (With 13 Figures)	51
Expression of the Gene Defects of Acute Intermittent Porphyrria (AIP) and Erythropoietic Protoporphyrria (EPP) in Mitogen-Stimu- lated Lymphocytes S. Sassa, G.L. Zalar, and A. Kappas. (With 1 Figure)	66
Uroporphyrinogen-Synthase (URO-S) in Erythrocytes in Acute Inter- mittent Porphyrria (AIP) R. v. Tiepermann and M. Doss. (With 3 Figures)	70
Hereditary Coproporphyrria: Demonstration of a Genetic Defect in Coproporphyrinogen Metabolism Y. Nordmann and B. Grandchamp. (With 3 Figures)	76

Session III Clinical Course and Therapy of Acute Hepatic Porphyrias

Moderators: C.J. Watson, Minneapolis, and G.A. Martini, Marburg

A Case of Acute Intermittent Porphyria, Relapsing Acute Pancreatitis, and Unconjugated Hyperbilirubinemia (Gilbert's Syndrome) K. Neuhaus, K. Kobza, K. Gyr, and F. Gudat	85
Acute Intermittent Porphyria: EEG Changes and Their Relationship to the Biochemical Manifestation E. Mühler. (With 4 Figures)	87
Family Studies of Patients With Acute Intermittent Porphyria (AIP): Neurological, Biochemical, and Genetic Investigations K.F. Leonhardt, R. v. Tiepermann, and M. Doss	94
The Effect of Hematin in "Inducible" Hepatic Porphyria C.J. Watson, C.A. Pierach, I. Bossenmaier, and R. Cardinal	100
Therapy of Acute Intermittent Porphyria With Ovulation Inhibitors in Women G. Schley, W. Hengstebeck, and K.D. Bock	103

Session IV Pathogenesis, Clinical Biochemistry, and Treatment of Chronic Hepatic Porphyrias

Moderators: G.A. Martini, Marburg, and G.C. Topi, Rome

Clinical Observation, Diagnostics, and Therapy for Symptomatic and Hereditary Porphyria Cutanea Tarda G.C. Topi and L. D'Alessandro Gandolfo	107
Uroporphyrinogen Decarboxylase (URO-D) Defect in Erythrocytes in Chronic Hepatic Porphyrias R. v. Tiepermann and M. Doss. (With 1 Figure)	111
The Problem of Possible Etiological Factors in the Origin and Development of PCT L. Malina and J. Chlumský	117
Incidence of Porphyria in Slovenia A. Kansky and M. Berčič. (With 1 Figure)	121
Chronic Hepatic Porphyrias and the Role of Iron in These Disorders P.A. Lehr and R.M. Saenz	125
Chloroquine in the Treatment of Porphyria Cutanea Tarda V. Kordač, M. Jirsa, and M. Kaláb. (With 4 Figures)	127
Chloroquine Treatment of Porphyria Cutanea Tarda M. Gebel, M. Doss, and F.W. Schmidt. (With 2 Figures)	133
Clinical Importance of Suburoporphyrins M. Jirsa, M. Kaláb, V. Kordač, and H. Soldátová. (With 2 Figures)	136
Current Diagnostic Problems in the Cutaneous Porphyrias in Infancy. Presentation of Unusual Cases L. D'Alessandro Gandolfo and G.C. Topi	139

Session V Porphyrria and Environment

Moderators: N. Simon, Szeged, and M. Maines, New York

Influence of Environmental Factors on Porphyrin Metabolism N. Simon, Cs. Siklósi, and F. Kőszó. (With 5 Figures)	145
Porphyrogenic Action of Polyhalogenated Aromatic Compounds, With Special Reference to Porphyria and Environmental Impact J.J.T.W.A. Strik. (With 1 Figure)	151
Lead Poisoning Attributable to Automobile Traffic W. Blumer	165
Neoplasms and Metabolic Disturbances of Porphyrins in Rats With Chronic Experimental Lead Poisoning B. Zawirska. (With 1 Figure)	168

Session VI Diagnosis of Lead Intoxication

Moderators: H. Ippen, Göttingen, and M. Doss, Marburg

Time Course and Compartment Relations of Heme-Synthesis Disturb- ances Induced by Inorganic Lead Compounds in Humans H. Schlegel and G. Kufner	175
Urinary Porphyrin Profiles in Acute Lead Poisoning: Relation to Differentiation From Acute Intermittent Porphyria M. Doss and R. v. Tiepermann. (With 1 Figure)	178
Determination of Lead and Cadmium in Whole Blood by Electrothermal Atomic Absorption Spectroscopy M. Stoeppler and K. Brandt	185
Biochemical Behavior of δ -Aminolevulinic Acid Dehydratase During Chronic Oral Lead Poisoning in Sheep C.P. Fassbender. (With 2 Figures)	188
Diagnostic Criteria of Increased Lead Absorption in Occupational Medicine R. Schiele and K.H. Schaller	191
Analysis of the Diagnostically Relevant Heme Precursors (5-Amino- levulinic Acid, Coproporphyrin, and Protoporphyrin) in Lead Poisoning by Use of Thin-Layer Chromatography G. Kufner and H. Schlegel. (With 2 Figures)	198
Comparison of Fluorometric Micromethods for Analyzing Erythro- cytic Porphyrins (EP) K.H. Schaller and R. Schiele. (With 3 Figures)	203

Session VII Therapy of Lead Intoxication

Moderators: H. Schlegel, Sindelfingen, and U. Meyer, Zürich

Therapy for Lead Poisoning N. Graben, M. Doss, H.A. Klöppel, W. Wilhelms, and R. v. Tiepermann (With 2 Figures)	211

Subclinical Effects of a Ubiquitous Poison: Lead H.H.D. Stöven	217
Correlations Between Chronic Exposure to Lead and Excretion of Heme Precursors in Ceramics Industry Workers N. Simon, F. Kószó, and Cs. Siklósi	221
 Session VIII Porphyria and Tumors
Moderators: S. Schwartz, Minneapolis, and V. Kordač, Prague
Modification of Radiosensitivity by Porphyrins: Studies of Tumors and Other Systems S. Schwartz, M. Keprios, J. Modelevsky, H. Freyholtz, R. Walters, and L. Larson. (With 9 Figures)	227
Meso-Tetra (P-Sulfophenyl) Porphine as a Potential Tumor-Local- izing Agent C.J. Carrano and M. Tsutsui	236
Frequency of Occurrence of Hepatocellular Carcinoma in Patients With Porphyria Cutanea Tarda in Long-term Follow-up V. Kordač. (With 3 Figures)	240
Organ Porphyrins in Human Circulatory Disorders and Neoplastic Disease B. Zawirska. (With 1 Figure)	244
 Session IX Erythropoietic Protoporphyria
Moderators: V. Janousek, Prague, and H. Ippen, Göttingen
Characterization of the Defect in Heme Metabolism in Patients With Erythropoietic Protoporphyria T.M.A.R. Dubbelman, A.F.P.M. de Joeij, J. v. Steveninck, and L.N. Went	251
Biochemical and Morphologic Changes in Early Phases of Experi- mental Protoporphyria V. Janoušek, J. Dobiáš, A. Chlumská, O. Klein, and M. Paulová. (With 5 Figures)	255
Hereditary Bovine Protoporphyria, a "Total Body" Deficiency of Ferrochelatase: Some Basic Distinctions From Hypochromic Anemias S. Schwartz, B. Stephenson, and G. Ruth. (With 1 Figure)	262
Treatment of Erythropoietic Porphyrias H. Ippen	266
 Session X Porphyrin, Heme, and Iron Transport
Moderators: G. Blauer, Jerusalem, and U. Muller-Eberhard, La Jolla
Interactions of Porphyrins With Proteins G. Blauer	271
Hemopexin and Albumin Metabolism in Porphyria Cutanea Tarda U. Muller-Eberhard and H.H. Liem	272

Photodynamic Modification of Erythrocyte Membrane Proteins Induced by Protoporphyrin T.M.A.R. Dubbelman, A.F.P.M. de Goeij, and J. v. Steveninck. (With 2 Figures)	276
New Aspects of Hematin Excretion in Rats Z.J. Petryka and C.A. Pierach. (With 5 Figures)	280
Hematin Therapy in Acute Porphyria and Observations on Hemopexin J.M. Lamon, D.P. Tschudy, and U. Muller-Eberhard. (With 6 Figures)	285
 Addendum, Memorandum Lectures
Das Wirken Hans Fischers für die Porphyrinforschung A. Treibs. (Mit 12 Abbildungen)	295
Thudichum und der Purpur C.J. Watson. (Mit 1 Abbildung)	304
Subject Index	307
