

1	Introduction	1
	References.....	7
2	Landscape Theory Approaches—The Theory of Three Landscapes and Neopragmatic Landscape Research	13
2.1	From ‘Three Worlds’ to ‘Three Landscapes’—Conceptual Reflections on Dealing with Spatial Complexity Following Karl Popper	14
2.2	Basic Considerations on Neopragmatism	16
2.3	Irony as a Neopragmatic Approach to the World.	19
2.4	Irony and Comedy	20
2.5	Life Chances and Irony	24
2.6	Approaches to the ‘Invention’ of Oilscares—A Neopragmatic Horizontal Geographic Operationalization	30
	References.....	34
3	Aesthetics and Aisthesis of Landscape	41
3.1	The Development of Aesthetics: Some Basic Considerations and Their Landscape References	42
3.2	Aesthetics and Aisthesis.....	47
3.2.1	The Classical Hierarchical Relationship Between Aisthesis and Aesthetics	48
3.2.2	On the Hybrid Understanding of Juxtaposed Aisthesis and Aesthetics.....	51
3.3	The Hybridization of Culture and Nature	61
3.4	From the Romantic to the Neo-Romantic Landscape	67
3.5	Landscape Aesthetics and Spatial Aisthesis—A Contouring.....	72
	References.....	74

4	Neopragmatic Synthesis	89
4.1	Neopragmatic Landscape Research—Of Contingency, Hybridization, Irony, Aisthesis, and Aesthetics	89
4.2	Of Perception and Representation—Reflections on the Neopragmatic (Especially Cartographic) Aesthetics of Representation	93
4.3	Operationalization to Neopragmatic Visualizations: Ligne Claire Representations.	98
	References.	99
5	Crude Oil and Natural Gas—Formation, Extraction, Distribution, and Processing.	103
5.1	Origin	103
5.2	Production	105
5.3	Transport and Storage	108
5.4	Processing and Use	109
5.5	Unintended Side Effects of Oil Production, Transportation, and Use.	110
	References.	112
6	Oilscapes—First Conceptual Approaches	115
	References.	117
7	Oilscapes of Louisiana	119
7.1	Basic Considerations for a Neopragmatic Engagement with ‘Oilscapes of Louisiana’.	119
7.2	The Pathways of Oil (not Only) in Louisiana as a First Approach to L-oilscapes	121
7.3	Developments in the Petrochemical Industry in Louisiana—An Introductory Overview.	126
7.4	Oilscapes of Production.	128
7.4.1	The Spatial Distribution of Oil and Gas Deposits and Production Sites—As a Material Basis for the Development of E-oilscapes.	128
7.4.2	The Differentiated Breakdown of Oilscape 1 of Production: Onshore and Offshore	130
7.4.3	Oil City—A Phenomenological Approach to a Small Town Between days Gone by and the Struggle for the Present.	133
7.5	Oilscapes of Processing.	143
7.6	The Multiple Oilscapes of Transportation	148
7.7	Indirect Oilscapes as Consequences of Handling Hydrocarbons and Their Derivatives	151
7.8	The Unintended Side Effects of Oilscape 1.	157

7.8.1	The Unintended Side Effects of Hydrocarbon Extraction, Transportation, Processing, and Use in Louisiana.	157
7.8.2	Baton Rouge Region: The Janus-Faced Nature of the Forced Industrialization Based on the Oil Industry.	163
7.8.3	Societal Responses to Unintended Side Effects of Oilscape 1	168
7.9	Oilscape 1 of Louisiana—A Synthesis	172
	References.	175
8	Media Representations of Oilscales—An Exemplary Approach.	187
8.1	Oilscales in Social Media Using the Example of Comments to a YouTube Video	188
8.2	Video Game Norco	193
	References.	196
9	Experiencing the Oilscales in Mode A and Mode B	199
9.1	Subject Areas	199
9.2	Patterns of Interpretation	201
9.2.1	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Skepticism	201
9.2.2	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Enthusiasm	203
9.2.3	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Ambivalence	205
9.2.4	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Irreplaceability	206
9.2.5	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Ignorance	207
9.2.6	Patterns of Interpretation of Oil Description	207
9.3	Landscape Theory-Based Interpretation	208
	References.	210
10	Contingent Oilscales—Of Aesthetic Redescriptions and Inverted Landscapes.	211
10.1	Inverse Landscapes—Basic Conceptual Considerations	211
10.2	Inverse Oilscales and Their Construction	213
10.3	Louisiana’s Inverse Oilscales	215
10.4	A Synthetic Approach to Louisiana’s Inverse Landscapes of Fossil Fuel Abstinence.	228
10.5	Contingent Oilscales—A Summary	233
	References.	234
11	Oilscales—A Second and More Differentiated Conceptual Version	241
12	Conclusion	247
	References.	254