

Contents

1	Introduction	1
1.1	Problem Definition and Purpose of the Investigation	3
1.2	Structure of the Work	4
2	Theoretical Framework	7
2.1	Definition and Characteristics of Selling Centers	7
2.1.1	Classification as a Project	10
2.1.2	Role Allocation	13
2.1.2.1	Transaction Center	15
2.1.2.2	Selling Center Concept by Pepels	16
2.1.2.3	Selling Center Concept by Moon and Armstrong	18
2.1.2.4	Promoter Opponent Model	18
2.2	Leadership	21
2.3	Acceptance	23
2.3.1	Determinants of Acceptance	25
2.3.2	Acceptance Matrix	26
2.3.3	Emergence of Influence-relevant Attitudes	29
2.3.3.1	Process Theory of Leadership	29
2.3.3.2	Social Identity Theory of Leadership	32
2.3.3.3	Implicit Leadership Theory	34
2.4	Acceptance of Leadership within Selling Centers	36
2.4.1	Interrelations with Role Allocation	37
2.4.2	Investigation Model	38

3	Qualitative Study	41
3.1	Study Design	42
3.1.1	Conception of the Interview Guide	43
3.1.1.1	Bulk Section 1—Experienced Situation	46
3.1.1.2	Bulk Section 2—Ideal Situation	47
3.1.1.3	Bulk Section 3—Assumption of the Project Manager Perspective	49
3.1.2	Pretests	49
3.2	Interview Participants	50
3.2.1	Selection and Recruitment	50
3.2.2	Characteristics	52
3.3	Interview Situations	54
3.4	Data Analysis	56
3.4.1	Transcription	58
3.4.2	Paraphrasing	59
3.4.3	Generalization	62
3.4.4	First Reduction	62
3.4.5	Second Reduction	65
3.5	Quality Criteria	67
3.5.1	Validity, Reliability and Objectivity	67
3.5.2	Specific Quality Criteria Related to Qualitative Content Analysis	69
3.6	Presentation of the Results	70
3.6.1	Performance Incentives	72
3.6.2	Structural Framework Conditions	73
3.6.3	Resources	76
3.6.4	Strategic Orientation	77
3.6.5	Factors at Team Level	78
3.6.6	Big Five Personality Traits	80
3.6.7	Intelligence	84
3.6.8	Competences and Key Competences	84
3.6.9	Experience	90
3.6.10	Personal Attitude	90
3.6.11	Work Instruction	94
3.6.12	Leadership Style	95
3.7	Interpretation of the Results	98
3.7.1	Performance Incentives	99
3.7.2	Structural Framework Conditions	101
3.7.3	Resources	104

3.7.4	Strategic Orientation of the Selling Centers	105
3.7.5	Factors on the Team Level	106
3.7.6	Big Five Personality Traits	108
3.7.7	Intelligence	109
3.7.8	Competences and Key Competences	110
3.7.9	Experience	113
3.7.10	Personal Attitudes	114
3.7.11	Accurate and Clear Work Instructions	116
3.7.12	Leadership Style	117
4	Quantitative Study	121
4.1	Study Design	121
4.1.1	Conception of the questionnaire	123
4.1.1.1	Item Construction	126
4.1.2	Pretests	133
4.2	Sample	136
4.2.1	Characteristics of the Survey Participants	137
4.3	Implementation of the Survey	138
4.4	Quality Criteria	138
4.4.1	Validity	138
4.4.2	Reliability	140
4.4.3	Objectivity	142
4.4.4	Secondary Quality Criteria	142
4.5	Presentation of the Results	143
4.5.1	Descriptive Evaluation	143
4.5.1.1	Exact Binomial Test	152
4.5.1.2	Evaluation of Intergroup Differences by Hierarchy Level	153
4.5.1.3	Evaluation of Intergroup Differences by Gender	156
4.5.1.4	Evaluation of the Free Text Field	160
4.6	Interpretation of the Results	160
4.6.1	Group Level	161
4.6.2	Subgroup Differences	162
5	Critical Appraisal	167
6	Conclusion	169
	Bibliography	171