

Contents

|          |                                                              |           |
|----------|--------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 1 | Introduction                                          | 1  |
| 1.1      | General Economic Situation in Hospitals                      | 1         |
| 1.2      | Complexity of Physician Scheduling                           | 1         |
| 1.3      | Topic of This Research                                       | 2         |
| 1.4      | Outline                                                      | 3         |
| 2 | Literature Review on Personnel Scheduling             | 5  |
| 2.1      | General Personnel Scheduling                                 | 5         |
| 2.2      | Physician Scheduling                                         | 8         |
| 2.3      | Implicit Shift Modeling                                      | 9         |
| 2.4      | Column Generation and B&P                                    | 10        |
| 3 | MIP Model for Flexible Shift Scheduling of Physicians | 13 |
| 3.1      | Basic MIP Model                                              | 13        |
| 3.1.1    | Model Description                                            | 13        |
| 3.1.2    | Model Formulation                                            | 17        |
| 3.2      | Model Enhancements                                           | 23        |
| 3.2.1    | On-Call Services                                             | 23        |
| 3.2.2    | Time Window Restrictions                                     | 27        |
| 3.2.3    | Break Assignment                                             | 28        |
| 3.2.4    | Holidays and Vacations                                       | 32        |
| 3.3      | Case Study: Anesthetist Scheduling                           | 34        |
| 3.3.1    | Current Practice                                             | 34        |
| 3.3.2    | Solution of the Model                                        | 35        |
| 4 | Solution Methodologies                                | 39 |
| 4.1      | Preprocessing                                                | 39        |
| 4.2      | Heuristic Decomposition Strategy                             | 41        |
| 4.3      | Column Generation and B&P Algorithm                          | 44        |
| 4.3.1    | Master Problem Formulation                                   | 46        |
| 4.3.2    | Subproblem Formulation                                       | 49        |
| 4.3.3    | Finding Integer Solutions                                    | 54        |
| 4.3.4    | Branching on MP Variables (MPVarB)                           | 55        |