

Contents

Hannah Wilson

Tracing Oblivion: The Collected Works of Yael Atzmony* — 1

Yael Atzmony

Tracing Oblivion — 15

Janine Fubel, Alexandra Klei, Annika Wienert

Spatial Thinking in Holocaust Studies — 31

Part I: Theoretical-methodological Approaches

Eliyana R. Adler

Expanding Geographies of the Holocaust: Refugees and Spatial Histories — 49

Ulrike Jureit

Space and Violence* as Analytical Categories in Holocaust Research — 67

Luba Jurgenson

Why is Landscape Research Important for Holocaust Studies? — 79

Anne Kelly Knowles

How Can We Map the Holocaust? — 89

Maël Le Noc

Daily Experiences of Persecution in the City: Mobilizing Diaries to Study the Holocaust in Urban Settings — 111

Sue Vice

Space in Holocaust Film — 119

Part II: Case Studies

Fleeting Spaces

Janine Fubel, Alexandra Klei, Annika Wienert

Motion, Fluidity, and Virtuality of Space — 135

Yaakov Borut

Multipurposing Jewish Spaces: German Jewry's Struggles to Provide Places for its Activities in Hostile Surroundings — 143

Li Shir

Remembering Arcadia in Auschwitz: Pastoral Representations of the Death Camps — 159

Sue Vice, Dominic Williams

Domestic Space in the Films of Chantal Akerman and Claude Lanzmann — 177

Institutionalized Spaces

Janine Fubel, Alexandra Klei, Annika Wienert

Institutionalization as a Socio-spatial Process: Norms, Rules, and Behavior — 197

Christhardt Henschel

Blocked Pathways: Regional Room for Manoeuvre of the Jews in the Administrative District of Zichenau, 1939–1945 — 205

Gundula Pohl

Denkmäler als Raumproduzenten – Der Gedenkkomplex Trascjanec bei Minsk — 229

Border/ing Spaces

Janine Fubel, Alexandra Klei, Annika Wienert

Drawing Lines, Crossing Frontiers, Transgressing Boundaries — 251

Chad S.A. Gibbs

Treblinka Geography: Nazi Building, Jewish Breaking, Historical Reconstructing — 261

Anne D. Peiter

Fensterblicke auf den Genozid — 277

Spatial Relations

Janine Fubel, Alexandra Klei, Annika Wienert

Overlapping, Overwriting: Syn/Diachronic Spatial Relationships — 295

Thomas Pekar

Wandlungen eines Exil- und Erinnerungsraumes: Shanghai – Hongkou – Tilanqiao — 305

Anne Mertins

Räumliche Überlagerungen. Erkenntnisse zu den Raumbeziehungen der Mahn- und Gedenkstätte Ravensbrück durch eine zeichnerisch-räumliche
Analyse — 327

List of Contributors — 353