

Table of Contents

Functional Programming and Logic Programming

Static Analysis of Functional Programs with Logical Variables Gary Lindström	1
Towards a Clean Amalgamation of Logic Programs with External Procedures Staffan Bonnier and Jan Maluszynski	20

Abstract Interpretation in Logic Programming

An Application of Abstract Interpretation in Source Level Program Transformation Daniël De Schreye and Maurice Bruynooghe	35
A Tool to Check the Non-Floundering Logic Programs and Goals Roberto Barbuti and Maurizio Martelli	58
Towards a Framework for the Abstract Interpretation of Logic Programs Ulf Nilsson	68

Logic Programming in Compiler Writing

An Implementation of Retargetable Code Generators in Prolog Annie Despland, Monique Mazaud and Raymond Rakotozafy	83
Towards a "Middle Road" Methodology for Writing Code Generators Feliks Kluzniak and Mirosława Milkowska	105
A Compiler Written in Prolog : the Veda Experience Jean-François Monin	119

Grammars

Coupled Context-Free Grammar as a Programming Paradigm Yoshiyuki Yamashita and Ikuo Nakata	132
A Bottom-Up Adaptation of Earley's Parsing Algorithm Frédéric Voisin	146
Using an Attribute Grammar as a Logic Program Günter Riedewald and Uwe Lämmel	161

Attribute Grammars and Logic Programming

Structure Sharing in Attribute Grammars Henning Christiansen	180
A Semantic Evaluator Generating System in Prolog Pedro Rangel Henriques	201
A Grammatical View of Logic Programming Pierre Deransart and Jan Maluszynski	219

Attribute Grammars in Logic Programming

Compiling Typol with Attribute Grammars Isabelle Attali	252
---	-----

Formal Specification of a Prolog Compiler Michael Hanus	273
---	-----

Logic Programming for Programming Environments

Formal Specification of Interactive Languages Using Definite Clause Grammars Weidong Dang	283
---	-----

Using Logic Databases in Software Development Environments Patrizia Asirelli and Paola Inverardi	292
--	-----