

Contents

|           |                                                                                                                                      |            |
|-----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 1  | Minimally Invasive Oculoplastic Surgery .....                                                                                 | 1   |
|           | Michèle Beaconsfield and Richard Collin                                                                                              |            |
| 2  | Minimally Invasive Conjunctival Surgery .....                                                                                 | 23  |
|           | Shigeru Kinoshita, Norihiko Yokoi, Tsutomu Inatomi,and Osamu Hieda                                                               |            |
| 3  | Minimally Invasive Lacrimal Surgery .....                                                                                     | 33  |
|           | Rainer K. Weber                                                                                                                      |            |
| 4  | Minimally Invasive Corneal Surgery .....                                                                                      | 59  |
|           | Heather M. Skeens and Edward J. Holland                                                                                              |            |
| 5  | Minimally Invasive Refractive Surgery .....                                                                                   | 97  |
|           | Jorge L. Alio, Mohamad Rosman, and Samuel Arba Mosquera                                                                              |            |
| 6  | Minimally Invasive Strabismus Surgery .....                                                                                   | 123 |
|           | Daniel S. Mojon                                                                                                                      |            |
| 7  | Minimally Invasive Iris Surgery .....                                                                                         | 153 |
|           | Roger F. Steinert                                                                                                                    |            |
| 8  | Minimally Invasive Glaucoma Surgery .....                                                                                     | 161 |
|           | Elie Dahan, Stefan de Smedt, Juliàn Garcia Feijoo,José Maria Martinez de la Casa, André Mermoud,Bojan Pajic, and Sylvain Roy |            |
| 9  | Minimally Invasive Cataract Surgery .....                                                                                     | 197 |
|           | I. Howard Fine, Richard S. Hoffman, and Mark Packer                                                                                  |            |
| 10 | Minimally Invasive Vitreoretinal Surgery .....                                                                                | 217 |
|           | Loh-Shan Leung, Woo Ho Nam, and Stanley Chang                                                                                        |            |
|           | Index .....                                                                                                                   | 233 |