

Contents

Jorina Brysbaert and Karen Lahousse

1 The complex nature of contrast — 1

Part I: Contrast versus topic and focus

Vieri Samek-Lodovici and Karen Dwyer

2 Experimental testing of focus fronting in British English — 21

Doriana Cimmino

3 Contrast and left dislocations: Contrastive discourse relations beyond contrastive topics — 41

Ojaswee Bhalla

4 Contrast and topics: An enquiry into Hindi particle -to — 69

Part II: Different types of contrast

Jan Fliessbach

5 Mirativity, obviousness, and reversal as instances of contrast on different levels of meaning: Evidence from Spanish intonation — 101

Regina Zieleke

6 Contrast via information structure: On topic development with German aber in post-initial position — 131

Clara Lombart

7 Definition of contrast in spoken and signed data: An overview — 161

Part III: Analyzing contrast using the Question Under Discussion model

Lisa Brunetti

8 Contrast in a QUD-based information-structure model — 191

Christoph Hesse, Ralf Klabunde, and Anton Benz

9 Contrast, concession, and QUD-trees — 225

Subject index — 263