

Contents

|                                                                      |    |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| Foreword (by Prof. Dr. Gilbert Matz)                                 | 9  |
| Preface                                                              | 10 |
| Acknowledgements                                                     | 11 |
| The Rainbow Boas—Two lustrous Species                         | 12 |
| The phenomenon of the rainbow                                        | 12 |
| Scintillating scales in snakes                                       | 14 |
| The physics of iridescence                                           | 17 |
| The more modern Systematics within the Genus Epicrates | 21 |
| The origins of the slender boas                                      | 21 |
| Relationships amongst slender boas                                   | 24 |
| A brief history of rainbow boas                                      | 29 |
| The subspecies                                                       | 31 |
| One species or two?                                                  | 32 |
| Today's subspecies of Epicrates cenchria                      | 38 |
| The choice of names for rainbow boas                                 | 45 |
| Distribution and Natural Habitat                              | 47 |
| Arboricolous or terricolous?                                         | 47 |
| Sense of temperature and the labial pits                             | 57 |
| Threats to natural habitats and the ability to adapt                 | 58 |
| The Subspecies of Epicrates cenchria                   | 63 |
| The Red Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. cenchria )                 | 63 |
| Head                                                                 | 63 |
| Build                                                                | 66 |
| Size and growth                                                      | 67 |
| Colour and colour pattern                                            | 71 |
| Ecology                                                              | 74 |
| The red rainbow boa in the terrarium                                 | 77 |
| Feeding                                                              | 80 |
| Advantages of feeding in a feeding box                               | 80 |
| Making provisions for biting fights during feeding                   | 82 |
| Further particulars of feeding                                       | 82 |
| Rations of food and feeding intervals                                | 82 |

|                                                                    |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| The Argentinean Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. alvarezi )       | 84  |
| Size and colour pattern                                            | 84  |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 87  |
| The Argentinean rainbow boa in the terrarium                       | 88  |
| Feeding                                                            | 89  |
| The Caatinga Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. assisi )            | 90  |
| Size and colour pattern                                            | 90  |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 93  |
| The Caatinga rainbow boa in the terrarium                          | 94  |
| The Marajo Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. barbouri )            | 95  |
| The Paraguay Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. crassus )           | 97  |
| Size and colour pattern                                            | 97  |
| Distribution                                                       | 99  |
| The Paraguay rainbow boa in the terrarium                          | 102 |
| The Peruvian Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. gaigei )            | 104 |
| Size and colour pattern                                            | 104 |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 107 |
| The Peruvian rainbow boa in the terrarium                          | 107 |
| The Espirito Santo Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. hygrophilus ) | 108 |
| The Minas Gerais Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates c. polylepis )     | 112 |
| Build and colour pattern                                           | 112 |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 113 |
| The Minas Gerais rainbow boa in the terrarium                      | 114 |
| The present situation of identifying rainbow boas                  | 115 |
| The only way of telling them apart: the lepidotic table            | 115 |
| The Subspecies of Epicrates maurus                   | 117 |
| The Venezuelan Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates m. maurus )          | 118 |
| Size and colour pattern                                            | 118 |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 119 |
| The Venezuelan rainbow boa in the terrarium                        | 120 |
| The Colombian Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates m. colombianus )      | 121 |
| Size and growth                                                    | 121 |
| Colour and colour pattern                                          | 122 |
| Distribution and natural habitat                                   | 124 |
| The Colombian rainbow boa in the terrarium                         | 125 |
| The Guiana Rainbow Boa ( Epicrates m. guyanensis )          | 128 |

|                                                                                      |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Breeding the two Species of Rainbow Boa .....                                 | 131 |
| Propagation in the terrarium .....                                                   | 132 |
| Sexual dimorphism and sexing .....                                                   | 132 |
| Sexual maturity and breeding maturity .....                                          | 136 |
| Composing breeding groups .....                                                      | 138 |
| Reproductive cycles .....                                                            | 139 |
| Triggers for mating activity .....                                                   | 140 |
| Male combat .....                                                                    | 145 |
| Gravidity .....                                                                      | 146 |
| Birth .....                                                                          | 150 |
| The last hours prior to birth .....                                                  | 151 |
| The birthing process .....                                                           | 152 |
| Stillborns, wax eggs and yolk .....                                                  | 157 |
| Suffocation during birth .....                                                       | 162 |
| Sizes and weights of neonates .....                                                  | 162 |
| Raising the offspring .....                                                          | 164 |
| Juvenile colour patterns .....                                                       | 168 |
| The market for rainbow boas .....                                                    | 169 |
| The Rainforest Terrarium .....                                                | 170 |
| Minimum space requirements .....                                                     | 170 |
| Terrarium set-up and outfitting .....                                                | 171 |
| Terrarium Heating .....                                                              | 172 |
| Materials: Advantages and disadvantages .....                                        | 178 |
| Rear walls .....                                                                     | 180 |
| Humidity .....                                                                       | 183 |
| Rainbow Boas—Diseases and Parasites (by Frank Mutschmann, DVM) .....          | 187 |
| Rainbow Boa Colour and Pattern Mutations &amp; Morphs (by John R. Berry) .... | 199 |
| Glossary .....                                                                | 216 |
| References .....                                                              | 219 |