

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments — IX

Introduction — 1

Chapter 1. Comic and Aesthetic Novels — 9

- Beyond Geistesgeschichte — 13
- Kierkegaard and the Aesthetic — 22
- The Prehistory of Modernity — 31
- An Applied Philosophy of Life — 40
- Example 1: Juli Zeh, Spieltrieb — 42

Chapter 2. Montage and Modernity — 45

- The Implied Modernist — 48
- The Waxing of the Modern Ages — 64
- In the Midst of History — 87
- Example 2: Hilary Mantel, Wolf Hall — 90

Chapter 3. The Phenomenology of Reading — 95

- The Modern Reader — 104
- The Quasi-Reality of Fiction — 110
- Duration, Imagination, Transformation — 120
- Negativity and Harmony — 129
- The Sublime and the Screen — 138
- Example 3: Miguel Syjuco, Ilustrado (1) — 147

Chapter 4. Fictions, Roles and Games — 151

- The Act of Reading 2.0 — 157
- The Origin of Fictionalizing Acts — 163
- The (In)distinction of Fiction & Imagination — 170
- Games and Stagings — 183
- Literary Anthropologies — 198
- Example 4: China Miéville, The City & The City — 203

Chapter 5. The Recursions of Culture — 209

- The Translations of Theory — 214
- The Range of Recursion — 227
- Rippled Surfaces — 244
- Example 5: Miguel Syjuco, Ilustrado (2) — 250

VIII — Table of Contents

Conclusion. Modernity, Meaning and Humanity — 253

Wolfgang Iser: A Bibliography — 259

Name Index — 269