

Contents

Preface 11

Acknowledgement 13

List of abbreviations..... 15

List of figures, maps and tables 19

Chapter 1. Research overview, context and problematization 21

1.1 Introduction 21

1.2 Theoretical setting 26

 1.2.1 Political realism..... 26

 1.2.2 The history of political realism and political realism as a theory of international relations 28

 1.2.3 Basic characteristics of political realism as a theoretical concept 29

 1.2.4 Edward Hallett Carr and realism 30

 1.2.5 Hans J. Morgenthau’s “Politics among Nations: The Struggle for Power and Peace” 31

 1.2.6 The six main principles of political realism as defined by Hans Morgenthau 32

 1.2.7 Geopolitics..... 33

 1.2.8 Mackinder and his “Heartland” 35

 1.2.9 Brzezinski and “the Grand Chessboard” 37

 1.2.10 Political economy 39

 1.2.11 Institutionalism 41

 1.2.12 Theoretical characteristics of institutionalism 42

 1.2.13 Comparison of realism and institutionalism 43

1.3 Methodology 44

Chapter 2. The Caspian Region and its role in the foreign policy of international political actors	47
2.1 The downfall of the USSR and the new states of the Caspian Region	47
2.1.1 The geostrategic significance of the Caspian Region	50
2.2 "The Great Game" ("Bolshaya Igra").	53
2.2.1 "The new Great Game"	57
2.2.2 Comparison between the "classical" and "new Great Game"	61
2.3 Conflicts as the major impediments to the regional security of the South Caucasus	62
2.3.1 Russia's role	63
2.3.2 The first Nagorno-Karabakh war between Armenia and Azerbaijan	64
2.3.3 Madrid Principles	66
2.3.4 The second Nagorno-Karabakh war between Armenia and Azerbaijan	67
Chapter 3. Geopolitics in the Caspian Region	69
3.1 China's policy in Central Asia	70
3.1.1 China's policy in the South Caucasus	74
3.2 EU's Central Asia policy	76
3.2.1 EU in the South Caucasus	79
3.3 US policy towards Central Asia	83
3.3.1 US policy in the South Caucasus	85
3.4 Russia's policy towards Central Asia	88
3.4.1 Russia in the South Caucasus	91
3.5 Turkey	95
3.6 Iran	98
3.7 Azerbaijan	102
3.8 Kazakhstan	106
3.9 Turkmenistan	112
Chapter 4. The Caspian region's energy resources and the history of their production and meaning for the world energy market	119
4.1 Azerbaijan	119
4.1.1 Oil industry history of Azerbaijan	120
4.1.2 "Neft Dashlari"	121
4.1.3 ACG	122
4.1.4 Energy industry after the acquisition of independence	124
4.1.5 Oil production	125
4.1.6 Azerbaijan's oil dependence	128
4.1.7 Natural gas	134
4.1.8 Perspective natural gas fields	137
4.1.9 Azerbaijan as a significant natural gas exporter for the neighboring countries	138

4.2	Kazakhstan	141
4.2.1	Oil sector	141
4.2.2	Oil reserves and prospective oil fields	144
4.2.3	Production	145
4.2.4	Export	147
4.2.5	Natural gas production	151
4.2.6	Natural gas pipelines	154
4.3	Turkmenistan	156
4.3.1	Oil sector	156
4.3.2	Natural gas	159
4.3.3	China as the primary natural gas importer for Turkmenistan	162
4.3.4	Natural gas export to Russia	164
4.3.5	Turkmenistan as a potential natural gas supplier for Europe?	166
4.3.6	Economic difficulties of the country against the background of the gas sector	167

Chapter 5. The essential energy contracts between international energy concerns of the world and countries of the Caspian Region. The significant energy fields

5.1	"The Contract of the Century"	169
5.1.1	The signing of the contract and member companies of the agreement.	172
5.1.2	Russia as the primary opponent of the signing of "the Contract of the Century"	173
5.1.3	Significance, positive and negative aspects	174
5.2	Shah Deniz natural gas project Stage-1	177
5.2.1	Azerbaijan's economic profit	180
5.3	Shah Deniz Stage-2	181
5.3.1	Shareholders and agreements concerning the implementation	183
5.3.2	Development during last years and expectations	184
5.4	South Caucasus Pipeline	186
5.5	TANAP	188
5.5.1	Significance for Turkey and the EU	192
5.5.2	Hypothetical probability of Tehran's joining	195
5.5.3	Increasing of export through Turkmen gas	196
5.6	Nabucco	197
5.6.1	Failure reasons	199
5.7	TAP	200
5.7.1	Significance for host countries	203
5.8	Kashagan	205
5.8.1	Resumed production after many years of delay	208
5.9	Tengiz	210
5.9.1	Expansion	212

5.10	Karachaganak	214
5.10.1	Important contracts and member companies	215
5.10.2	Production	216
5.10.3	Development stages	217
5.11	Galkynysh	218
5.11.1	Development	220
5.11.2	Member companies and their functions	221
5.11.3	Galkynysh as the primary natural gas export source of Turkmenistan	222
Chapter 6. Summary and Conclusion		225
6.1	A summary of primary findings and the results of hypotheses	225
6.2	Theoretical implications and further research	237
6.3	Policy recommendations	238
List of references		241
Appendices		289