

Table of Contents

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Preface | V |
| Introduction | 1 |
| New Materialism and New Media Dramaturgy in the Anthropocene | 13 |
| New Materialism and a Nonhuman Polity | 15 |
| Climate Crisis and Imagination | 20 |
| New Media Dramaturgy and a Repositioning of the Human in Performance | 23 |
| The Privileged Position of Sight in Enlightenment Thinking | 26 |
| Olfactory Art as New Media | 27 |
| The Extinct Archive: Haunting and the Nonhuman Specter | 33 |
| The Archive(s) as Starting Point | 36 |
| Epistemic Production beyond the Archive | 39 |
| The DNA of the Project | 41 |
| Performing Absence | 46 |
| Ghosts in the Natural History Museum | 49 |
| Plural Histories, Histories as Plural | 53 |

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| The Vanishing Archive: | |
| Performing Ongoing Disappearance | 57 |
| The First Forest and the Last Forest | 58 |
| The Postnow of Climate Change | 61 |
| The Perception of Disappearance and Olfaction | 65 |
| The Olfactory Record and the Body as Archive | 68 |
| The Politics of the Present, the Presence of Politics | 72 |
| Conclusion | 75 |
| Acknowledgements | 81 |
| Bibliography | 83 |