

Table of Contents

Jessamy Perriam & Katrine Meldgaard Kjær

Introduction: encountering the intersections, implications and interventions of digital transformation — 1

Irina Papazu

Chapter 1

Between bureaucracy and agility: the quiet transformation of the Danish digital state — 9

Cancan Wang & Chunrong Liu

Chapter 2

One data state, two data logics: unfolding China's data governance — 29

Michael Hockenhull

Chapter 3

Digital state APIs: sociotechnical approaches to a small yet important piece of digital infrastructure — 53

Irina Papazu, Thorben Simonsen & Lara Reime

Chapter 4

The digital state overflowing its boundaries: considering the case of digital inclusion in Denmark — 75

Baki Cakici, Alena Thiel & Ranjit Singh

Chapter 5

The politics of seamlessness: a rights claims perspective on digital identification technologies — 93

Brit Ross Winthereik

Chapter 6

The citizen from hell: experiencing digitalization — 109

Simy Kaur Gahoonia

Chapter 7

Matters of subjects: the digital citizen in technology comprehension — 125

VI — Table of Contents

Jessamy Perriam & Lynne Copson

Chapter 8

Poor policy made durable: when digital transformation meets social harm — 141

Laura Na Blankholm, Andy Lautrup, Katja Sara Pape de Neergaard & Caroline Anna Salling

Chapter 9

Aggregating like a state: discriminatory data practices of legislated ghettoization in Denmark — 163

Contributor biographies — 183

Index — 187