

Contents

Tobias L. Kienlin

Household(s) – Practices: An Introduction 9

Brigitte Röder

„Haushalt“ und „Hausarbeit“:

Produktive Analysekategorien für die prähistorische Forschung? 29

Kevin Kay

Has ‘the Household’ Outlived its Usefulness in Archaeology? 55

Agathe Reingruber

The Oikos, the Orygma and the Open Spaces:

Aegean Neolithic Settlement Patterns in Perspective 79

Miroslav Marić

Evolving a Household:

Examples from the Neolithic of Serbia. 105

Anna Bahß – Niels Bleicher

Mensch und Raum in neolithischen Feuchtbodensiedlungen:

Zwischen Netzwerken und Mustern. 129

Péter Csippán – Márta Daróczi-Szabó – Flóra Klinga –

Zsófia Eszter Kovács – Szilvia Fábián

Just Rubbish! – Spatial Distribution Patterns of Everyday Meat Processing During the Late Copper Age of the Carpathian Basin. 143

Sabina Cveček

From Household to Society: Studying Bottom-Up while Analysing Top-Down 157

Miriam Müller

Household and Family in Pharaonic Egypt 175

Marie Louise Stig Sørensen – Magdolna Vicze
The Challenges of Houses and Households: Reflections Based on the Middle Bronze Age Tell at Százhalombatta-Földvár, Hungary.	191
Sofia Filatova
Home is Where the Hearth is: A Macrobotanical Perspective on Middle Bronze Age Households at Kakucs-Turján and the Wider Region.	209
Klára P. Fischl – Tobias L. Kienlin
Houses and Households in the Early to Middle Bronze Age of the Borsod Plain, North-Eastern Hungary	229
Astrid Röpke – Gabriella Kovács – Ákos Pető
Household Activities Imprinted in Floors.	271
Marian Adrian Lie
Structure Layouts as a Means of Understanding Household Activities at the Bronze Age Tell Site of Toboliu (Western Romania).	291
Nadine Nolde
First Results of a Diachronic Faunal Record from Middle Bronze Age Structures at the Tell Site of Toboliu	313
Alexandra Găvan – Marian Adrian Lie – Tobias L. Kienlin
Off-tell Houses at the Bronze Age Multi-component Settlement in Toboliu (Romania).	329
List of Contributors	351