

Contents

Foreword
Introduction	1

Part I Crete in War Politics 1940/41

1 From Conflicting Interests in Italian and German War Politics to the Capture of Crete	5
a) On the Importance of Crete During the Italian Invasion in October 1940	5
b) The German Attack on Greece in April 1941 Weisung Nr. 28 [Directive No. 28] • Motives for the Operation »Merkur«	6
c) The Defence of Crete by the British	8
2 The Conquest of the Island in May 1941	9
a) Losses in Battle	10
b) Strategic Misjudgements	11
c) The Civilians' Participation in the Struggle	13
d) On the Reproach of Breaches of International Law	14
e) Reprisals Against the Cretan Civilian Population	15

Part II The German–Italian Occupation Period (1941 – 1943)

1 The German Occupation Rule	17
a) The Relationship Between the Occupying Powers	17
b) Goals of the German Occupation Policy: From Base to Island Fortress	19
c) Means of German Occupation Policy Work Obligation • First Attempts at Pacification • The Propaganda The Principle of »Kollektive Verantwortung« [Collective Responsibility] • The »Sühnemaßnahmen« [Retaliation Measures] of June 1942	20
d) The Situation of the German Soldiers Home Leaves • Postal Service • The Mood Among the Troops	30
e) Supplies and Economy on Crete	34
f) Characteristics of the Italian Occupation Rule	38
2 The Cretan Population: Between Resistance and Adaptation	39
a) The Tradition of Resistance The Beginning of the Andartiko • Forms and Supporters of the Resistance • The Political Orientation of the Resistance • The Importance of the Resistance	39
b) The Population's Attitude The Greek Administration • The Gendarmerie • The Orthodox Church • Collaboration	45
3 The Role of the British in and on Crete	50
a) British Activities on Crete	50

Tasks and Work of the Special Operation Executive (SOE) • The EOK's Constituting Under British Auspices

- | | |
|--|----|
| b) The Support of the British by the Cretans | 54 |
| The Relationship of the British to the Cretans • The SOE-agents' Everyday Problems • British-Cretan Sabotage Operations | |
| c) The Allied Invasion as an Option | 61 |

Part III

Crete Under German Autocracy: From the Capitulation of Italy in September 1943 to the German Retreat in September 1944

- | | |
|---|----|
| 1 The Disarmament of the Italian Occupation Troops | 65 |
| a) Incidents During the Relief | 66 |
| b) The Italian Soldiers' Lot | 68 |
| 2 Changes after the Elimination of the Italian Occupying Power | 69 |
| a) Destructions and Evictions | 69 |
| b) The Reorganisation of the German Military Administration | 70 |
| 3 The Exercise of the Occupation Rule | 71 |
| a) Clashes at Ano Viannos | 71 |
| b) Combating the Andartes with the Help of Task Forces | 74 |
| c) The Destruction of the Villages of Selino | 76 |
| d) Changed Foci of the German Propaganda | 76 |
| e) The Persecution of the Jews | 78 |
| 4 The Abduction of General Kreipe by a British-Cretan Commando | 79 |
| 5 Preparation and Accomplishment of the German Retreat | 80 |
| a) The Terror Measures of August 1944 | 80 |
| b) The Germans' Retreat | 82 |
| c) The Behaviour of the British and Cretans During the Retreat | 83 |

Part IV

Crete During the Period from October 1944 to July 1945

- | | |
|--|----|
| 1 The Rule of the German Occupying Power in the »Kernfestung« | 87 |
| 2 The Capitulation | 89 |
| 3 Ramifications and Repercussions | 90 |

- | | |
|------------------------|-----|
| Abbreviations | 93 |
| Sources and Literature | 95 |
| Maps | 102 |