

Contents

Preface — V

1	Introduction — 1
2	Disruption of agency in group activity — 12
2.1	Ascription of agency and agent responsibility — 14
2.2	Responsibility voids in group activity — 17
2.2.1	Minimal interaction — 18
2.2.2	Simple coordination and collective agency — 21
2.2.3	Complex coordination and corporate agency — 29
2.3	Insights from the disruption of agency in group activity — 39
3	Characteristics of group activity — 42
3.1	Acting together — 42
3.1.1	The meanings of 'together' — 43
3.1.2	Acting together beyond acting together — 48
3.1.3	Research map for action theory of group activity — 57
3.2	Philosophical research on group activity — 59
3.2.1	Most influential accounts for group activity — 61
3.2.2	Alternative accounts for group activity — 78
3.3	Insights of the analysis of what we do together — 92
4	The cutlery of agency — 97
4.1	Intentionality in agency — 97
4.1.1	Six features of intentionality in agency — 98
4.1.2	Unification challenge for intentionality in agency — 104
4.1.3	Action theory diversified — 112
4.2	Goals in agency — 113
4.2.1	Goals are not desires — 114
4.2.2	The concept of a goal — 117
4.2.3	Goals and intentionality in agency — 125
4.3	Insights from intentionality and goals in agency — 128
5	Kinds of agency — 130
5.1	Human agents as prototype agents — 132
5.1.1	Decision making in human agency — 134
5.1.2	Execution control in human agency — 141

VIII — Contents

5.2 Insights from empirical research on human agency — 153

5.3 Conclusion—Agency in groups — 155

Bibliography — 161

General index — 169

Index of technical terms — 173