

Contents

Introduction — 1

An aesthetic-ethical turning point — 4

The end of literary intransitivity — 6

A remediating literature? — 10

Facing Oneself

Chapter 1

The quest for visibility — 17

The empire of the first person — 17

A literature for the democratic age — 20

From expressiveness to contemporary autobiography — 22

Chapter 2

The quest for singularity — 30

Literature and the idealization of difference — 30

Wild intimacy — 32

Be yourself, the weight of a societal summons — 36

Facing Life

Chapter 3

Reassuring the subject — 43

The culture of personal development — 43

The narrativist principle — 49

Ambiguity of genealogies — 51

Chapter 4

Reconstructing the self — 55

Writing as resistance — 55

Erasure and reinvention of the self — 59

The perfectionist quest — 63

Facing Trauma

Chapter 5

The powers of writing — 71

The culture of trauma — 71

From historical sufferings to private traumas — 74

Autobiography and psychotherapy — 77

Chapter 6

The virtues of reading — 83

The bibliotherapeutic dream — 83

The catharsis model — 89

Literature as exorcism — 91

Facing Disease

Chapter 7

Literature in the clinic — 97

Autopathographies of AIDS — 99

Illness as an opportunity to write — 103

Medical humanities and narrative medicine — 110

Chapter 8

The work of mourning — 115

The voice of the dead — 118

The difficulties of writing — 121

The origin of literature — 125

Chapter 9

Projectionist ethics — 127

The powers of empathy — 129

Altruistic ideology — 131

Literature and the ethics of care — 135

Chapter 10

Equipping knowledge — 142

Semantic education — 147

The societal virtues of literature — 151

The powers of irony — 156

Facing the World

Chapter 11

Reconstructing territories — 163

The geographical question — 163

Thinking the global — 171

Protecting the world — 175

Chapter 12

Remaking community — 178

The clinic for the precarious — 178

The literature of the unseen — 182

In search of a we — 187

Facing Time

Chapter 13

Retrospective justice — 195

The specters of history — 196

The work of recognition — 201

Victims in the present — 204

Chapter 14

A substitutive memory — 209

The era of hypermnesia — 211

On literature considered as a museum — 213

The resurrection of the anonymous — 217

Conclusion — 222

The practices and mystics of repair — 222

A new ethical and political doxa — 225

The therapeutic (re)interpretations of literature — 230

Bibliography — 239

Index of Names — 273