

Contents

1	“Military Intelligence”	1
1.1	Philosophy: the Luxurious Supplement of Violence	1
1.1.1	Individual and Structural Violence	2
1.1.2	Psychiatrization and Dehistoricization of Violence	5
1.1.3	Victims and Media	6
1.1.4	Philosophy and Violence	7
1.2	Defining Violence: Violence Is Distributed and Always “Perceived” as Such	9
1.2.1	Decent Violent People	11
1.2.2	Honor and Institutional Cultures	12
1.2.3	Defining Violence	15
1.2.4	Various Kinds of Violence	19
1.3	Coalition Enforcement: Morality and Violence	20
1.3.1	Abduction, Respecting People as Things, and Animals as Moral Mediators	20
1.3.2	Coalition Enforcement Hypothesis	23
1.3.3	The Origin of Moral/Social Norms, Social Dominance Hierarchies and Violence	28
1.3.4	Cooperation, Altruism, and Punishment: an Epistemological Note	31
	References	33
2	The Violent Nature of Language	37
2.1	The Violent Nature of Language: Abduction, Pregnances, Affordances	37
2.1.1	Salience and Pregnances	38
2.1.2	Pregnances as Eco-Cognitive Forms: the Naturalness of Proto-Morality and Violence	40
2.1.3	Mental and Mindless Semiosis and the Formation of Language, Habits, and Violent Conflicts	43

2.1.4	Violence: “Vocal and Written Language Is a Tool Exactly Like a Knife”	49
2.1.5	The Role of Abduction in the Moral/Violent Nature of Language	54
2.2	The Awesome and Perverse Academic Face of the Relationships Between Morality and Violence	58
2.2.1	Perversion, Violence, and Narcissism	61
2.2.2	Ad Ignorantiam Fallacy as a Semantic Attack	63
	References	66
3	Moral Bubbles: Legitimizing and Dissimulating Violence
	Distributing Violence through Fallacies	69
3.1	Violence, Language, and “Writing”	69
3.2	Fallacies as Distributed “Military” Intelligence	73
3.2.1	Epistemic Bubbles and the Distribution of Aggressive Fallacies	77
3.2.2	Morality and Moral Bubbles: Legitimizing and Dissimulating Violence	80
3.2.3	Gossip, Morality, and Violence	83
3.2.4	Judging Violence: Abductive Fallacy Evaluation and Assessment	85
3.3	The Semiotic Emergence of Violence through Deception	88
3.3.1	Fireflies and Luminescent “Femmes Fatales”	89
3.3.2	Moral Hazard as the Violent Perverting of Cooperation	92
3.4	The Violent Force of Law and of Morality	95
3.4.1	Lawmaking and Law-Preserving Violence	96
3.5	Ochlocracy: Violently Perverting Democracy and Its Values	97
3.5.1	Wisdom of the Crowd or Violent Tyranny of the Crowd?	98
3.5.2	Ochlocracy as the Perverting of Sympathy	105
3.6	Beyond 9/11. Democrats, Speak Out! Would You Like to Be Terrified or Deterred?	109
3.6.1	The Widespread Violence Against Rechtsstaat and Democracy	109
3.6.2	What Westerners Want (When They Do Not Like Constitutional Democracies Anymore)	112
3.6.3	The “Paradox of the Insider Enemy”	115
3.7	Bad News from Evolutionary Game Theory	117
	References	118
4	Moral and Violent Mediators	123
4.1	Cognitive Niches as Moral Niches	123
4.1.1	Human Beings as Chance Seekers	123
4.1.2	Cognitive Niches as Carriers of Aggressiveness	125
4.1.3	Cognitive Niches as Moral Niches	129

- 4.2 “A Sense of Purposefulness” in Evolution: Copying with Maladaptive Artifactual Niches 132
- 4.3 Distributing Morality and Violence through Cognitive Niche
Construction 137
- 4.4 Moral Mediators as Conflict Makers and Triggers for Structural Violence 138
- 4.5 Moral Mediators 139
- 4.6 Are Moral Mediators Able to Act as Violent Mediators? The
Two-Faced Nature of Internet and Artificial Intelligence
Technological Mediators 142
 - 4.6.1 Internet and Social Networks as Violent Mediators 142
 - 4.6.2 Artificial Intelligence (AI) as a Violent Mediator 143
 - 4.6.3 Moral Mediators and “Knowledge as Duty” 144
- 4.7 Moral Mediators and Structural Violence 145
- 4.8 Collective Axiologies as Moral Niches, and the Derived Violent Conflicts 147
 - 4.8.1 Nonviolent Moral Axiologies, Pacifism, and Violence 151
 - 4.8.2 What Does the Micro-Sociological Theory of Violence Teach Us? 154
- 4.9 Building Violent Niches through Bullshit Mediators 156
 - 4.9.1 Degrading Truth: Bullshit as a Violent Mediator 156
 - 4.9.2 Deception through Confabulating about Truth 159
- 4.10 Violence and the Right and the Duty to Information and Knowledge 163
 - 4.10.1 Why Epistemology Matters to Violence? 167
- 4.11 Constructing Morality through Psychic Energy Mediators 168
 - 4.11.1 Moralizing Nature, Moralizing Minds 168
 - 4.11.2 Cognitive/Affective/Moral Delegations to Artifacts and Subsequent Reinternalization 172
 - 4.11.3 Artifacts as Memory, Moral, and Violent Mediators 173
 - 4.11.4 Maximizing Abducibility of Morality through Symbols 176
 - 4.11.5 Cultured Unconscious and Sacrifices 178
- References 179
- 5 Multiple Individual Moralities May Trigger Violence 185
 - 5.1 “Multiple Individual” Moralities: Is “Moral Disengagement” in the Perpetration of Inhumanities a Reengagement of Another Morality? 185
 - 5.1.1 Reengagement of Another Morality 189
 - 5.1.2 Kant and the “Inverted Stoicism” 194
 - 5.2 Pure Evil? 196
 - 5.2.1 Criminal Psychopaths’ Morality and Ethicocentrism 198
 - 5.2.2 Mental Incapacity and the Fear of Decriminalization 202

5.2.3	Gene/Cognitive Niche Co-Evolution and Moral Decriminalization	204
5.2.4	Can We Freely Decide to Kill Our Free Will? What Is Crime Commodification?	211
5.3	Fascist Morality and Happy Violence: “The Fascist State of the Mind”	216
5.3.1	Ideology as a Disguised Violent Ethos	219
5.3.2	The Fascist “Infinite Morality” as a Violent Moral Void	221
5.3.3	Intellectual Genocide: Killing Opponents’ Cognitive Niches	223
5.3.4	Culture of Hatred and Inculcation, and the Moral “Banality of Evil”	226
5.3.5	Evil and Trauma	229
5.4	The Fascist Arguer and His Fallacious Dimensions	232
5.4.1	Negating the Truth	233
5.4.2	Negating the Opponent and Moral Niche Impoverishment	238
5.5	The Perversity of “Respecting People as Things” in Wars and the Role of Bad Faith	244
	References	246
6	Religion, Morality, and Violence	251
6.1	Is Religion Violent? Faith and Its Pervertibility	251
6.1.1	Theological Violent Argumentations	257
6.2	Religion as a Natural Phenomenon	262
6.2.1	Religious Moral Carriers, Religious Violent Carriers	264
6.2.2	Rendering Human Behavior Predictable through Religion and Morality	268
6.2.3	Religion Is Easy, Religion Is Violent	270
6.3	From Magical Thinking to Religion: Bubbles and Cognitive Firewalls	277
6.4	Sacred and Sacrifice: the Violent Boundaries of Magic	283
6.5	Overmorality and Wisdom. Morality or Indifference?	287
6.5.1	Escaping Overmorality?	292
6.5.2	The Ostrich Effect: the Limits of Docility	294
6.6	How Can Forgiveness Be Violent? The Ideal of Mercy and Its Discontents	297
6.6.1	Forgiveness is Multidimensional	300
6.6.2	Moral Viscosity and the Ultimate Paradox of Forgiveness	305
	References	310

7	Violently Mimicking the Primitive Accumulation	317
7.1	Morality and Violence in the Role of Enclosures in Capitalistic Primitive Accumulation	318
7.2	“Enclosures” and the Related “Moral Bubble” Based on Edifying Economic Narratives	319
7.2.1	“Moral Bubbles” Based on Edifying Economic Narratives	320
7.2.2	The Amazing List of Violent Effects Provoked by Enclosures	323
7.2.3	The Historical Tendency of Capitalist Accumulation	327
7.3	Violence as the Most Productive Force: Women Reduced to Reproducers	328
7.3.1	Women’s Exploitation and Capitalistic Primitive Accumulation: Women Become Machines for the Production of New Workers and the Recent “New” Enclosures	328
7.3.2	The Violent Destruction of the Control that Women Exercised Over the Reproductive Function	328
7.3.3	Women Thrown Out of the Commons	329
7.3.4	When Common Lands are Destroyed by the Enclosures Women Become the New Communal Good: the New “Patriarchy of the Wage”	330
7.4	The Violent Aspects of Primitive Accumulation as the Main Characters of Every Phase of the Recent Capitalist Globalization	332
7.4.1	The “New Enclosures” Candidly Operated by the Officers of the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, and Coronavirus Lockdowns	332
7.4.2	Coronavirus Lockdowns Favor the “New Enclosures”	333
7.4.3	The Paradox of the Interplay between Green Era and Ukraine and Israel-Hamas Wars and Global Food and Energy Crisis	334
7.4.4	The Moral Bubbles Generated by the “New Enclosures”: both Offenders and Offended Dissimulate Violence	336
7.5	The “Terminal Enclosure”: Aggressing the Ultimate Common Good	337
7.5.1	Water as a Commodity: Violence against Poor People?	337
7.5.2	The “Special” Violation to Women’s Access to Water	338
	References	340

8 Doing Violence to the Production of Scientific Knowledge 341

8.1 “Knowledge in Motion” Defended: Favoring Scientific Abduction through the Eco-Cognitive Openness 342

8.1.1 Marketing Technoscientific Results 345

8.2 Jeopardizing Human Abduction through Impoverished
Epistemic Niches 349

8.2.1 Epistemic Irresponsibility I: Expensive Drugs
Now and the Undisciplined Commodification of Abduction in Science 349

8.2.2 Epistemic Irresponsibility II: How to Avoid the Eco-Cognitive Shutdown of Creative Abduction 353

8.2.3 Epistemic Irresponsibility III: Neoliberalism Assaults to Epistemic Integrity of Biopharmaceutical Research 357

8.3 Optimizing the Eco-Cognitive Situatedness: Human Creative Abduction between Academia and Corporations 362

8.3.1 “The Symbiotic Model of Innovation” and the Precompetitive Collaborations 364

8.4 Computational Invasive “Subcultures” Jeopardize Human Creative Abduction in Science 367

8.5 Science Impoverished: Encouraging Epistemic
Irresponsibility through Ignorance 371

References 374

Conclusion 379

Lexicon 381

Index 395