

Contents

List of Figures	page	ix
Acknowledgments	page	xi
List of Abbreviations	page	xiii
Introduction		1
Mendelism and the Study of Human Heredity		5
Eugenics, Pseudo-science and Nazism		11
Glossary of Terms, as They Were Used and Understood by the Historical Actors		19
1 Mendel's Laws and Their Application to Humans, 1865–1913		22
Defining Mendel's Laws		28
First Steps in Mendelizing Racial-Anthropology: Fischer's Rehoboth Study		35
The Mendelization of Mental Disorders: Rüdin's "Routes and Aims"		41
Searching for the Ultimate Pedigree Format: Genealogy and Mendelian Thinking		47
2 Mendelism Maturing: From Experimental to Interpretative Framework, 1913–1933		54
Genealogy Rejects Mendelism		56
Psychiatry Embraces Mendelism		63
Physical Anthropology Redefines Itself		73
3 Mendelism, Purity and National Renewal		89
Racial Purity and Hybridization		90
The Dangerous Recessive Factors		102
Mendelizing Jews		109
Peasants and the Mendelian Rebirth of the Nation		116
4 Annihilating Defective Genes: Mendelian Consciousness and the Sterilization Campaign		125
Mendelizing the Sterilization Law		130
Teaching Mendel, Explaining Eugenics: A View from the Classroom		143
Mendelian Reasoning and the Implementation of the Sterilization Policy		155

5	Mendelizing Racial Antisemitism	165
	The Mendelian Route to the Nuremberg Laws	168
	Teaching Mendelian Racism	177
	Diagnosing Race and Mendeling-Out Jewish Genes	190
	Epilogue: Social Mendelism beyond the Nazis	205
	Postwar Mendelian Racial-Hygiene	205
	Meanwhile, beyond the German Frontier	214
	Depoliticizing Mendel	224
	Bibliography	232
	Index	264