

CONTENTS

1.	Francis Carsten: Politics and History in Two Cultures Volker R. Berghahn	7
2.	The Topos of Inevitable War in Germany in the Decade before 1914 Wolfgang J. Mommsen	23
3.	Walther Rathenau — Intellectual or Industrialist? James Joll	46
4.	Poles, Czechoslovaks and the 'Jewish Question', 1914-1921: A Comparative Study Antony Polonsky and Michael Riff	63
5.	War and the Appropriation of Nature George L. Mosse	102
6.	Rapallo — Strategy in Preventive Diplomacy: New Sources and New Interpretations Hartmut Pogge von Strandmann	123
7.	The 'Baltic Problem' in Weimar's Ostpolitik , 1923-1932 John W. Hiden	147
8.	Paramilitarism and Social Democracy: Theodor Körner and the Schutzbund Martin Kitchen	170
9.	Democracy and the Power Vacuum: The Problem of the Party State during the Disintegration of the Weimar Republic Karl Dietrich Bracher	189
10.	The Third Reich and the Problem of 'Social Revolution': German Officers and the SS Gunnar C. Boehnert	203
11.	German Reactions to Military Defeat, 1945-1947: The British View Barbara Marshall	218
12.	The 'Missing Revolution' in Industrial Societies: Comparative Reflections on a German Problem Richard Löwenthal	240
	Appendix: F. L. Carsten's Writings	258
	Notes on Contributors	260
	Index	261