

Contents

In Loving Tribute: Remembering the Legacy of Prof. Władysław T. Miodunka (1945–2024) . . . . .	7
Przemysław E. Gębal / Karol Krzyżosiak Polish as a foreign and second language among Ukrainian migrants. An introduction . . . . .	11
Part One. Systemic background and methodological challenges
Zbigniew Szmyt Polish among Ukrainians. The perspective of migration studies . . . . .	19
Yuliia Vaseiko / Natalia Tsolyk The state of teaching Polish as a foreign language in Ukraine after 2022 . . . . .	27
Karol Krzyżosiak Polish language among Ukrainians in the face of war in Ukraine. A transdisciplinary approach . . . . .	41
Part Two. Migrant tuition and Intercomprehension
Jacopo Saturno Intercomprehension, transfer and L2 Polish . . . . .	59
Aneta Lewińska A case study – The work of a Polish teacher on developing the vocabulary of a student with a migration experience in the perspective of intercomprehension . . . . .	69

Lucyna Warda-Radys
Teacher’s work with a Slavic child with migrant experience in the perspective of intercomprehension . . . . . 85

Part Three. New Developments: Woman perspective – Everyday practice – Netnolinguistics

Dominika Izdebska-Długosz
Ukrainian refugee women in Poland – Determinants of Polish language acquisition two years after the outbreak of the war . . . . . 99

Irena Chawrińska / Elżbieta Czapka / Weronika Kamińska-Skrzyńska
The use of microanalysis of communication in exploring conversations between migrant parents and teachers in the Pomeranian schools . . . . . 115

Zbigniew Szmyt
Schools for Immigrants: Educational Migration and Learning Polish at Private Colleges. A Case Study of the City of Poznań . . . . . 127

Karol Krzyżosiak
Polish with TikTok. Online forms of language acquisition among Ukrainian learners of Polish. A case study in netnolinguistics . . . . . 141

Przemysław E. Gębał
Towards didactic concepts of differentiation and personalization.
Teaching Polish as a second language in the face of the changing linguistic, communication and activity needs of migrating learners
(with particular emphasis on Eastern Slavs) . . . . . 157