

Contents

1	What does Storytelling Have to do With Therapy?—Life as a Story	1
2	When is Storytelling Therapeutic?—Hurtful and Healing Stories	13
3	What Kind of Stories can I Tell?—A Shelf Full of Dreams	23
4	What Makes a Good Story?—Room for One's Own	29
5	How do I Find the Right Story at the Right Time?—Unearthing Treasures	35
6	How do I Structure a Therapeutic Story?—Building Stairs	47
7	Where to Connect, Where to Lead?—Stops in the Landscape of Life	69

8	Where do I Start and How do I Continue?— The Wrong English	77
9	Editing Stories—Polishing the Diamond	83
10	Storytelling in Child and Adolescent Therapy—Gregor, the Dragon	89
11	Storytelling in Adult Therapy—Like a Pile of Ants	101
12	Storytelling in Medicine—Rowing Upwards	111
13	Storytelling in Therapy Training and Supervision—Matryoshka	123
14	Storytelling as a Remedy in Collectively Experienced Crises?	139
Appendix: Therapy and Further Education Opportunities		143