

Table of Contents

Table of Abbreviations	15
Introduction – Reproductive Rights in International Law	17
Chapter 1 – On Reproductive Rights	25
A. Defining Reproductive Rights	25
I. Reproductive Rights Pillars and Elements	26
II. Access to Abortion as a Reproductive Right	31
B. The Origins of Reproductive Rights in International Law	36
I. From the Right to Family Planning to Reproductive Health and Rights	37
II. Recognizing and Affirming Reproductive Rights in Cairo and Beijing	41
1. The Cairo Programme of Action on Sexual and Reproductive Health, Reproductive Rights, and Access to Abortion	42
2. The Beijing Platform for Action on Sexual and Reproductive Rights, Reproductive Rights, and Access to Abortion	44
3. The Conferences' Impact on Reproductive Rights	45
C. Reproductive Rights Sources	47
I. The Legal Authority of Reproductive Rights Sources	47
II. Human Rights Interpretation	50
D. Framing Reproductive Rights Discourses	52
I. Endorsing Reproductive Rights	52
1. Reproductive Rights as Matters of Autonomy and Privacy	53
2. Reproductive Rights as Matters of Equality	55
3. Reproductive Rights as Matters of Life and Health	56
II. Opposing Reproductive Rights	57
1. Reproductive Rights in Opposition to Rights of the Fetus	57
2. Reproductive Rights in Opposition to Religious and Traditional Values	60

Table of Contents

3. Reproductive Rights as Culturally Imperialistic, Liberal Western Ideology	62
Chapter 2 – The Fragmented Evolution of Reproductive Rights	67
A. On Tracing Change in International Law	68
B. Reproductive Rights from the late 1990s to 2005	71
I. First Signs of a Shift in the International Atmosphere on Reproductive Rights	72
II. A Development Agenda for the New Millennium without Reproductive Rights	74
1. The Omission of a Goal on Reproductive Health	75
2. The Inadequacies of the Millennium Development Goals	77
III. The Prevention of Renegotiation and Pushbacks at the Ten-year Follow-up Events	79
IV. The Incorporation of Reproductive Rights into International Human Rights Law	80
1. Incorporating Reproductive Rights into the Work of the Treaty Bodies	81
2. Incorporating Reproductive Rights into the Work of the Special Rapporteur on the Right to Health	83
3. Incorporating Reproductive Rights in the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities	85
V. Summary	86
C. Reproductive Rights from 2005 to 2015	87
I. The Reintroduction of Reproductive Health to the Millennium Development Goals	88
II. The Return of the Conference Follow-up Mechanisms to the Global Stage	89
III. The Sobering Experience of the 2012 Conference on Sustainable Development	92
IV. The Continuing Incorporation of Reproductive Rights into International Human Rights Law	94
1. The Beginning of Human Rights-Based Access to Safe and Legal Abortion in the Treaty Bodies	95
a. The Human Rights Violations in Denying Access to Legal Abortion	95

b. The First Step Towards Human Right-based Access to Abortion	98
2. The Beginning of the Human Rights Council's Work on Reproductive Health and Rights	100
3. The Special Rapporteur on the Right to Health's Attempt to Expand Reproductive Rights	101
V. Summary	102
D. Reproductive Rights since 2015	103
I. The Ambivalent Reintroduction of Reproductive Rights to the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda	103
II. The Continued Expansion of Reproductive Rights at the International Conference on Population and Development Follow-ups Events	106
III. The Expansion of Reproductive Rights in International Human Rights Law	107
1. Expanding the Human Rights Standards on Reproductive Rights among the Treaty Bodies	108
a. Affirming Human Rights Violations in Forced Medical Interventions	108
b. Affirming Access to Safe Abortion as Part of the Right to Health	109
c. Expanding Human Rights-based Access to Abortion in cases of Non-vital Pregnancies	110
d. Affirming Access to Safe Abortion as Part of the Right to Life	114
e. Expanding Human Rights Standards on Maternal Health	117
f. Confirming Freedom from Obstetric Violence as a Reproductive Rights Element	119
2. New Actors Working with Reproductive Rights among the Special Procedures	120
a. Expanding the Thematic Mandates Addressing Reproductive Rights	121
b. The Working Group on Discrimination against Women and Girls on Reproductive Rights	123
3. The Resolutions of the Human Rights Council on Reproductive Rights	126
IV. Summary	131

Table of Contents

E. Conclusion: The Oscillating Evolution of Reproductive Rights	133
Chapter 3 – Contesting Reproductive Rights	137
A. On Contestations	137
I. A Brief Literature and Theory Review of Contestation	138
II. Reproductive Rights Contestations	140
B. Contestations during Consensus-finding Processes	142
I. Emerging Reproductive Rights Contestation Mechanisms and Arguments at the Conferences	142
1. Contesting Reproductive Rights at the International Conference on Population and Development	142
2. Contesting Reproductive Rights at the Fourth World Conference on Women	145
II. Employing and Adapting Reproductive Rights Contestation Mechanisms and Arguments	147
1. Contesting Reproductive Rights at the First Conferences' Follow-up Sessions	147
2. Contesting Reproductive Rights during the Drafting of the Millennium Declaration	149
3. Contesting Reproductive Rights during the Drafting of the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities	151
4. Contesting Reproductive Rights during Rio+20 and the Drafting of the 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda	152
5. Contesting Reproductive Rights in the Human Rights Council	153
III. The Impact of Contestations during Consensus-finding Processes	155
C. Introducing Counterframes into Documents on Reproductive Rights	155
I. Counterframes within Reproductive Rights Instruments	156
II. Reservations as Contestations	157
1. On Reservations and Interpretative Declarations	157
2. Reservations and Interpretative Declarations on Reproductive Rights in Human Rights Treaties	159
3. 'Reservations' on Reproductive Rights in Non-binding Instruments	162
4. The Impact of Reservations on Reproductive Rights	165

D. Challenging the Work of Independent Bodies to Contest Reproductive Rights	167
I. Contesting Reproductive Rights in the Drafting of General Comments	167
1. Attempting to Influence the Drafting of the General Comment on Sexual and Reproductive Health	167
2. Attempting to Influence the General Comment on the Right to Life	169
II. Contesting the Work of the Special Procedures	171
III. The Impact of Reproductive Rights Contestations in Independent Bodies	173
E. Counterframe Agendas and Contestation Frameworks	173
I. The Human Rights Council's Agendas on Religion, Traditional Rights, and Family as Counterframe Resolutions	174
II. The San Jose Articles as a Contestation Framework	177
III. The Geneva Consensus Declaration as a Contestation Framework	178
IV. The Impact of Counterframe Agendas and Contestation Frameworks	181
F. Multi-layered Reproductive Rights Contestations	182
I. The Impact of Reproductive Rights Contestations	182
II. Disingenuous and Incoherent Contestations	185
Chapter 4 – The Robustness and Resilience of Reproductive Rights	189
A. On Robustness and Resilience	189
B. Resilience Vis-à-vis Contestations	192
I. Reproductive Rights Contestations as Legally Irrelevant Practices	192
II. Resilience in Reaction to Extreme Positions of Anti-Reproductive Rights Actors	194
C. Robustness and Resilience in Institutionalization and Legalization	196
I. The Institutionalization and Legalization of Reproductive Rights	197
II. Institutionalization as a Resource for Pro-Reproductive Rights Actors	199
	11

Table of Contents

D. Contributions to the Robustness and Resiliency by Pro-reproductive Rights Actors	202
I. Civil Society Access as a Driver of Robust Reproductive Rights Norms	203
II. The Importance of Institutional and Independent Bodies	203
III. Denouncing Non-compliance	205
E. Robustness and Resilience in Fragmentation	207
I. Robustness and Resilience in the Decentralized Character of International Law	208
II. Robustness and Resilience in the Resilience Network	209
1. The Resilience Network of Reproductive Rights	209
2. Strengthening the Network with Regional Human Rights Regimes	213
a. The Regional Human Rights Regime on Reproductive Rights	214
b. Strengthening the Resilience Network	219
F. Robust and Resilient Reproductive Rights	221
Conclusions: Reproductive Rights in International Law – Fragmented, Contested, Resilient	223
A. Reproductive Rights in International Law – Fragmented, Contested, Resilient	223
I. The Fragmented Evolution of Reproductive Rights	224
II. Reproductive Rights Contestations	225
III. Resilient and Robust Reproductive Rights	227
B. Reproductive Rights in 2024	228
I. The Legal Status of Modern Reproductive Rights	229
II. Reproductive Rights as a Development Imperative	230
III. Reproductive Rights in Contemporary International Human Rights Law	232
IV. International standards on access to legal and safe abortion	234
V. The Future of Reproductive Rights	236
Index of Authorities	239
Treaties and Conventions	239
UN Materials	240

Other international materials	250
Regional Materials	252
Domestic Materials	254
Miscellaneous	255
Bibliography	257