

Table of Contents

Prefatory Remarks,
Self-Serving Explanations and Unsolicited Compliments	ix
Prologue	xiii

PART I. ANATOMY OF THE COMIC

1	The Comic Intrusion	3
2	Philosophers of the Comic, and the Comedy of Philosophy	15
3	Laughing Monks: A Very Brief Sinitic Interlude	39
4	Homo Ridens : Physiology and Psychology	45
5	Homo Ridiculus : Social Constructions of the Comic	65
6	Interlude: Brief Reflections on Jewish Humor	87

PART II. COMIC FORMS OF EXPRESSION

7	The Comic as Diversion: Benign Humor	99
8	The Comic as Consolation: Tragicomedy	117
9	The Comic as Game of Intellect: Wit	135

10	The Comic as Weapon: Satire	157
11	Interlude: The Eternal Return of Folly	175

PART III. TOWARD A THEOLOGY OF THE COMIC

12	The Folly of Redemption	187
13	Interlude: On Grim Theologians	197
14	The Comic as a Signal of Transcendence	205
	Epilogue	217