

Table of Contents

Preface	VI
Introduction: Socrates and Jesus.....	1
Chapter 1: Crises of the Humanities in Germany	19
1.1 An Imperial German Curriculum?.....	20
1.2 The End of (Some) Illusions	26
1.3 A Fork in the Road	32
Chapter 2: An Elder Statesman in an Infant Republic	43
2.1 A Man of Many Callings	43
2.2 “On the Battlefield of Time”	52
2.3 The Dynamic Marriage of Historicism and Republicanism	59
2.4 Economics and Elections	65
Chapter 3: The Last Humanist.....	73
3.1 A Faculty Worth Fighting For.....	74
3.2 God and History: A Disciplinary Battle in the Troubled Twenties.....	92
3.3 History as a Humanism	124

Chapter 4: A Budding “Theoilogist”	127
4.1 The Reunion of Theologia and Philologia.....	127
4.2 A Philology of Values: Jaeger’s Educational Program.....	134
4.3 The Great War: Catalyst or Caesura?.....	148
Chapter 5: The Watchman of Olympus	159
5.1 The Perks of Platonism	160
5.2 The Indian Summer of Jaegerian Humanism in Germany.....	172
5.3 Out of the Furnace and into the Fire.....	177
5.4 The Confessions and Reflections of an Émigré Philologist.....	194
Chapter 6: A View from Sinai	202
6.1 A Star Is Born: Baeck’s Deconstruction of the Protestant Jesus	206
6.2 The Essence of Judaism: “Ethical Monotheism”.....	210
6.3 Mystery, Romanticism, and the Polarity of Jewish Existence.....	215
Chapter 7: The Humanities Then and Now	227
Bibliography	235
Index of Names	249
Index of Subjects	255