

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	10
Introduction	11
Chapter 1 The Mask Colonialism, Memory, Trauma and Decolonization	15
Chapter 2 Who Can Speak? Speaking at the Centre, Decolonizing Knowledge.	25
Chapter 3 Speaking the Unspeakable Defining Racism	39
Chapter 4 Gendered Racism “(...)would you like to clean our house?” – Connecting ‘Race’ and Gender	53
Chapter 5 Space Politics 1. “Where do you come from?” – Being Placed Outside the Nation 2. “(...) but you cannot be German.” – Colonial Fantasies, Isolation and ‘Race’ 3. “(...) they want to hear an exotic story.” – Voyeurism and the Joy of Otherness.	64 66 68
Chapter 6 Hair Politics 4. “(...) people used to touch my hair!” – Invading the Black Body 5. “Excuse me, how do you wash your hair?” – Fantasies of Dirtiness and Colonial Domestication 6. “(...) me and my natural hair.” – Hair, Black Women and Political Consciousness 7. “he smelled my hair and made this association... with monkeys” – White Wild Fantasies, Love and the Black Venus	70 71 72 74

Chapter 7	Sexual Politics
	8. "Wer hat Angst vor dem Schwarzen Mann"
	– The Oedipus Complex, Killing the Black Man and Seducing the Black Woman	78
	9. "(...) as if we are going to take their men or their children"
	– Fantasies of the Black Whore vs. Black Mammy	82
	10. "I was [competition] for her because I was Black like her child"
	– Black Women, Black Children, White Mothers,	83
Chapter 8	Skin Politics
	11. "Well, but for me you are not Black!"
	– Racial Phobia and Recompense	86
	12. "my adoptive parents used the word 'N.' all the time. For me they used the word 'M.'..."
	– Racism within the Family	87
	13. "I didn't want to be seen as a 'N.' like they were" – Misrepresentation and Identification	90
Chapter 9	The N-word and Trauma
	14. "What a beautiful 'N.' ...!"
	– The N-word and Trauma	94
	15. "what beautiful skin... I want to be a 'N.' ... too!"
	– Envy and Desire for the Black Subject.	96
	16. "You get this ache in your fingers" – The Unspeakable Pain of Racism	97
	17. "everybody is different (...) and that makes the world great..."
	– The Theatre of Racism and Its Triangulation	98
Chapter 10	Segregation and Racial Contagion
	18. " whites on one side, Blacks on the other"
	– Racial Segregation and white Fantasies of Racial Contagion	102
	19. "The neighborhood where I was living was white " – Crossing the Boundaries and Hostility	103
Chapter 11	Performing Blackness
	20. "If I were the only Black student in the class, I had to, in a sense, represent what that meant"
	– Performing Perfection and Representing the 'Race'	108
	21. "But where do your great-grandparents come from?"
	– Coming to Germany	110

22. "Foreigners have it better here than prisoners"
– Racist Confessions and Aggression	112
Chapter 12 Suicide
23. "my mother committed suicide (...) I think she was very lonely in our town"
– Racism, Isolation and Suicide	116
24. "The Great Mothers of the Black 'Race'"
– The 'Super Strong Black Woman' and the Silent Suffering	118
Chapter 13 Healing and Transformation
25. "Those dolls, you see them if you go to plantation houses in the South"
– Colonial Objects, Remembrances of Slavery and the Transformation of Spaces	122
26. "I had to read a lot, to learn, to study (...) meet other Black people."
– Decolonizing Myself and the Process of Dis-alienation . .	124
27. "Black people greeted me on the street..."
– Piecing Together the Fragments of Colonialism	126
28 "(...) sistah, he said"
– The Imaginary African Family and Traumatic Reparation	129
Chapter 14 Decolonizing the Self	131
Literature	147