

Table of Contents

Alex Tepperman and Paul Bleakley

An Introduction — 1

Section One: Identity

Victoria M. Nagy

Chapter 1 Feminist Historical Criminology: Bringing a Gender Lens to Historical Criminology — 13

Jordan Blair Woods

Chapter 2 Historical Criminology and the New Anti-LGBTQ+ Crisis — 33

Esmorie Miller and Lizzie Seal

Chapter 3 Critical Race Theory for Historical Criminology in Britain — 53

Doris Morgan Rueda

Chapter 4 Gault and the California Catalyst: Re-examining Juvenile Justice Reform Before and Beyond Due Process, 1957 – 1967 — 71

Section Two: Systems

Valeria Vegh Weis

Chapter 5 Politics and Activism — 91

Ian Caistor-Parker, Stacey Hynd and April Jackson

Chapter 6 Critical Historical Criminologies and the Study of Crime and Punishment in Empire — 105

Ethan Blue

Chapter 7 One City, Two Fires: El Paso/Juárez, History, and Critical Border Criminology — 125

Section Three: Deviance

Jo Turner

Chapter 8 Policing Women in Late Nineteenth-Century England: Discretion, Masculinity, Stereotyping — 145

Mark Roodhouse

Chapter 9 Project Crime from the Inside: The London Mail-van Robbery of May 1952 — 165

James E. Wadsworth

Chapter 10 A Global View of Pirate Suppression — 189

Rob White

Chapter 11 Green Criminology and Global Histories of Environmental Harm — 215

Index — 235