

Contents

Acknowledgement — IX

List of Illustrations and Tables — XV

Note on Transliteration — XXIII

Chronology — XXV

I Introduction — 1

Revering the Founding Father: Between History, Art, and Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Modalities of Representation — 1

The Bāshā’s Brushed Off Self-Portrait: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Modalities of Representation and the Epistemic Aperture — 3

II The Bāshā’s Two Bodies: The Official Narrative and Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Symbolic Modality of Representation — 21

And Let There Be a Founding Father: The Historical Making of The Founder of Modern Egypt — 23

The Official Narrative and Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Symbolic Modality of Representation — 26

III The Enforced Portrait: Muḥammad ‘Alī Bāshā’s Biography between Facts, Myths, Self-Perception, and the Symbolic Body of a Sovereign — 46

The Illiterate Who Read History — 48

Painting A Historical Self-Portrait: Just Like Other Legendary Warlords — 52

The Self-made Savior: On Narratives of Origins, Birth, and Early Life — 54

Born in the City of Alexander, In the Same Year as Napoleon — 55

Orientalizing and De-Orientalizing the Self: Between an Albanian Adventurer, a Loyal Ottoman, and an Ottomanized European — 59

The King is A Father, The King is No One’s Son: Qūt and the Self-made Orphan Who Had Been Decreed by the Divine to Rule Egypt — 64

Independence Not Vassalage: Supremacy Over Peers and Hidden Political Messages — 68

Educated by France and Rescued by Great Britain: Constructing Links — 70

Eradicating Atrocities and Concealing Vices — 72

Eulogy and Censorship: Enforcing the Portrait — 77

Keeping the Historical Body of the Founding Father Intact: Venerating the Bāshā — 82

IV The Bāshā, the Uṣṭā, and the Khawājah: On Artisans and Artists under Muḥammad ‘Alī — 88

Al-Ṭawā’if al-Ḥirafīyah: Structure and Training System of Egypt’s Craftsmen Guilds — 90

The Ḥirafī’s Workspace and Equipment — 93

The Bāshā’s Reforms and the Guilds’ Decline: The Number of Ṭawā’if al-Ḥirafīyīn in Cairo from the Late Eighteenth to the Mid-Nineteenth Century — 99

The Bāshā and the Uṣṭā: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Policies and Attitude Towards Local Artisans and Crafts — 102

The Bāshā and the Formal and Artistic Qualities of Local Products — 106

Diverging Drifts: On Local Artistic Decline and Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Pursuit of International Commercial Partaking — 111

The Bāshā and the Khawājah: Recruitment Programs for European Craftsmen — 114

The Entrusted Portraitist: The Bāshā’s Portrait Between the Uṣṭā and the Khawjā- Muṣawir — 117

The Portraitists and the Portraits — 121

V From Versailles to Shubrā: The Bāshā’s Architecture, Urban Scene, Omnipotence and the Gaze of the Foreigner — 125

Keeping A Balanced Formula: On Ottomanization, Localization, and Modernization — 126

The Bāshā Regularization of the Urban Fabric: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Imprint on the Faces of the Two Capitals — 128

Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Head of the Kingdom: Cairo — 129

The Bāshā’s Gate to the World: Alexandria — 138

The Bāshā’s Gardens — 143

The Bāshā’s Architecture Between Foreignness, Glorious Past, Progressiveness and Power Manifestation — 145

In the Heart of Cairo: The Sabīl of Muḥammad ‘Alī in al-‘Aqqādīn — 146

The Empire’s Greatest Khedive Facing the Great Mamluk Sultans: The Sabīl of Muḥammad ‘Alī in al-Naḥāsīn — 149

The Glorious Past and the Progressive Bāshā: The Mosque of the Citadel — 152

Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Palaces — 160

Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Little Versailles: Sarayı Shubrā — 162

Palaces of the Citadel — 169

The Navy Officer Who Exterminated the Mamelukes: Sarayı al-Jawharah — 169

VI Le Portrait du Roi! Le Portrait du Bāshā! The Sacramental Body of Muḥammad ‘Alī — 176

To Care? Or Not to Care? The Question of Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Interest in Arts — 178

Provoked by Art: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Battles of Images — 179

Beaux-arts vs Arts Utiles: Art for the “Patron de les Arts” — 182

Muḥammad ‘Alī le Patron des Arts Hégémoniques’: The Bāshā’s Approach to Arts and the Visual Manifestations of Omnipotence — 185

A Portrait in the Palace of the Bāshā — 190

The Making of Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Sacramental Body — 193

Portraits as Documents, The Portrayed for Authentication — 204

The Portrait in Context: A Contextual and Thematic Taxonomy of Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Iconography — 215

The Broken Bāshā — 219

The Bāshā’s Iconography and the Dynastic Legitimacy: Narratives on Physiognomic Resemblance — 223

The Daguerreotype Bāshā: Had Muḥammad ‘Alī Ever Been Photographed? — 229

Conveying an Approximate Likeness — 232

VII Their Brush! His Palette: Orientalist Portraits as an Element of Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Soft-Power in Europe — 237

The Manifested Sovereign: Visuals as Part of The Nineteenth-Century Ottoman Diplomatic Scene — 240

In the Quest for Recognition: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Approach to Visuals and International Diplomacy — 243

“A Hero Full with Promise”: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Reign From 1805–1825 — 243

“A Powerful Sovereign with A Kingdom”: An Autonomy vis-à-vis the Sultan (1825–1840) — 246

Detouring the Strict Path: Muḥammad ‘Alī Defying the paçalık’s Confines — 248

XIV — Contents

Veiling and Unveiling Egypt: an Eyewitness, a Predetermined Scene, and an Idealized Portrait with a Message — 250

The Last Pharaoh Who Revived the Medici Giraffe — 255

Muḥammad ‘Alī Manifesting Kingship — 259

Kingship and Modernization — 262

The Bāshā’s Tent and Parade: The King and His People — 267

Publicizing the Bāshā: Ambassadors of Words and Images — 271

Singing La Marseillaise and Appropriating Vernet — 275

VIII The Brush in the Hand of the Depicted: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Portraits and the Saʿīdian Paradigm of Orientalism — 280

The Subservient with Power — 282

Managing the Image: Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Control Over His Visual Data — 283

An Intimate Outsider, A Man in the Middle, or a European in an Ottoman Garment: Aspects of Orientalizing and De-Orientalizing the Self in Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Portraits — 285

Muḥammad ‘Alī: The Man in the Middle — 286

“Le Calife De La Belle Époque”: Muḥammad ‘Alī and Orientalizing the Self — 288

The Intimate Outsider: De-Orientalizing the Self in Muḥammad ‘Alī’s Portraits Between the Divan and the Throne — 293

Muḥammad ‘Alī A European in an Ottoman Garment — 297

IX Conclusion — 300

Bibliography — 307

Index — 333