

Contents

Preface	9
Introduction	11
About Service Design	17
The Public Sector	25
3.1 Challenges Facing the Public Sector Today	27
3.2 Service Design and Higher Education	28
3.3 Service Design and the Public Sector	30
3.4 The Service Design Maturity Model	36
3.5 Service Design Maturity in the Public Sector	38
3.5.1 Examples of Service Design Maturity	41
3.5.2 Practical Implications of Service Design Maturity for Collaborations	46
Public Sector and University Service Design Collaborations	49
4.1 The Research Approach	50
4.2 Types of Collaborations	51
4.2.1 Capacity Building within the Public Sector	52
4.2.2 Research Labs	53
4.2.3 Student Internships	53
4.2.4 Thesis and Dissertation Collaborations	55
4.2.5 Sprints	55
4.2.6 Service Design Student Projects	57
4.3 Initiating Collaboration	57
4.4 Benefits and Reasons for Stakeholders	61
4.4.1 From the public sector perspective	62
4.4.2 From the University Perspective	63

Challenges, Success Factors, and Tools	65
5.1 The Landscape of Challenges	67
5.2 Planning the Project	68
5.2.1 Considering Context and Environment	69
5.2.2 Assessing Partner Service Design Maturity	71
5.2.3 Reaching an Agreement or Contract	74
5.2.4 Identifying the Right Stakeholders	76
5.2.5 Setting the Level of Complexity	78
5.2.6 Anticipating Ethical Issues	80
5.3 Starting the Project	84
5.3.1 Understanding the Problem	84
5.3.2 Balancing Project Objectives, Learning Goals, and Academic Rigor	86
5.3.3 Aligning Working Cultures	88
5.4 On the Go	90
5.4.1 Ensuring Commitment	90
5.4.2 Engaging Students	92
5.4.3 Addressing Public Sector Overload	96
5.5 After the Project	97
5.5.1 Evaluating and Measuring	97
5.5.2 Documenting and publishing	99
Conclusions	101
Appendix	105
7.1 List of Figures	106
7.2 Bibliography	107
7.3 Glossary	110
7.4 Resources	114
7.5 Interviewees	115
7.6 Advisory Board	117