

Contents

1	Introduction	13
1.1	Study background	13
1.2	Objectives of the study	19
1.3	Research questions	19
1.4	Significance of the study	20
1.5	Methodology	20
1.5.1	The documentary method	21
1.5.2	Picture interpretation in the documentary method	21
1.5.3	Interpretation process applied in this research .	24
1.5.4	Sample	24
1.6	Definitions of terms	25
1.7	Organization of the study	27
2	History of Citizenship Education in Germany	29
2.1	Citizenship education during the feudal autocratic monarchy (1871–1918)	29
2.2	Citizenship education during the Weimar Republic (1918–1933)	30
2.3	The politicization of education under the Nazi rule (1933–1945)	36
2.4	The re-education policy of the Allies after World War II (1945–1949)	39
2.4.1	The agreement between the Allied Powers . . .	41
2.4.2	The reconstruction of education	42
2.5	Socialist education during the German Democratic Republic (1949–1989)	48
2.6	Democratic citizenship education of the Federal Republic of Germany (since 1949)	51

Contents

3	Citizenship Education in Contemporary German Schools	65
3.1	Goals of citizenship education	66
3.2	Contents of citizenship education	70
3.2.1	Political education	71
3.2.2	Religious education	73
3.2.3	Moral education	74
3.2.4	Intercultural education	75
3.3	Forms of citizenship education	77
3.3.1	Participation in school governance	77
3.3.2	As a cross-curricular principle	78
3.3.3	As a subject	79
3.3.4	Extra-curricular activities	82
3.4	Characteristics of citizenship education	83
3.4.1	Following the government guidance	83
3.4.2	Relating closely to religious education	84
3.4.3	Developing toward the diversified system	85
3.5	Problems and challenges	86
4	Citizenship Education in School Textbooks: An Analysis of the Image of Migrants	89
4.1	Migration as a theme of civics textbooks	90
4.2	Picture analysis	93
4.2.1	Picture 1: In the Schoolyard	95
4.2.2	Picture 2: “Children of guest workers are stupid; they could not write the right word of ‘potato’ once!”	102
4.2.3	Picture 3: The Federal President Horst Köhler praised Hayriye Aydin for her contribution to an anti-Semitism project 2006	108
4.2.4	Picture 4: Caricature by Mester	114
4.2.5	Picture 5: Kosovo refugees on their way to an Albanian refugee camp in April 1999	120
4.2.6	Picture 6: Caricature by Thomas Pläßmann	125
4.2.7	Picture 7: Caricature by Thomas Pläßmann	130

4.3	Conclusion	135
5	The European Dimension of Citizenship Education	139
5.1	European identity and European citizenship	139
5.2	Problems and challenges of European citizenship	144
5.2.1	The unsynchronized development of rights and identity	145
5.2.2	Status of third-country nationals	146
5.2.3	Inequalities of civil rights and judicial protection in different member states	148
5.2.4	Relationship between EU citizenship and national citizenship	150
5.3	Approaches to the education for European citizenship	153
5.3.1	Policies and initiatives for the education for European citizenship	154
5.3.2	The education for European citizenship in Germany	159
6	Global Citizenship Education: Learning to Live Together	165
6.1	Development of the thought of global citizenship education	165
6.1.1	In pre-modern times	166
6.1.2	In modern times	172
6.1.3	In post-modern times	178
6.2	Global citizenship education in practice	182
6.2.1	School-wide	185
6.2.2	Cross-curricular	185
6.2.3	Integrated within certain subjects	186
6.2.4	Non-formal education	186
6.3	Areas of focus for global citizenship education	188
6.3.1	Education for sustainable development	188
6.3.2	Lifelong learning	192
7	Conclusions and Discussions	203
7.1	Summary	203

Contents

7.2	Limitations of the current study	205
7.3	Implications	206
7.4	Future research	207
8	References	209