

List of Tables	9
Conventions and definitions	11
1 Introduction	15
1.1 Contextual framework: palaeoanthropology and evolutionary theory ..	19
1.1.1 A short history of palaeoanthropology and evolutionary theory	20
1.1.2 Recent developments	29
1.1.3 The human lineages	34
1.2 Contextual framework: palaeoanthropology and evolutionary theory in China	47
1.2.1 A short history of palaeoanthropology and evolutionary theory in China	48
1.2.2 Debating the place(s) of human origin	73
1.3 Contextual framework: museums in China	87
1.3.1 A short history of museums in China	88
1.3.2 Museums today: organisational and legislative background	98
1.3.3 Definition, roles, and functions of museums in China	114
2 Methodology	125
2.1 Literature review: museum presentations of Palaeolithic archaeology in China	126
2.2 Research design	131
2.2.1 Research objectives and research strategy	131
2.2.2 Case study design, sampling strategy, and data collection method	134
2.2.3 Methods and techniques of data analysis	138
2.2.4 Methodological limitations	142
3 Empirical study	145
3.1 Beijing Natural History Museum (北京自然博物馆)	145
3.1.1 An introduction to the Origin of Human Beings (人之由来) exhibition	146
3.1.2 Layout and design	149
3.1.3 Content structure and textual style	151
3.1.4 Presentations of human evolution until and including Homo erectus	152
3.2 Zhoukoudian Site Museum (周口店遗址博物馆)	189
3.2.1 An introduction to Zhoukoudian Site Museum	190

3.2.2	Layout and design	195
3.2.3	Content structure and textual style	197
3.2.4	Presentations of human evolution until and including Homo erectus	201
3.3	National Museum of China (中国国家博物馆)	229
3.3.1	An introduction to the Ancient China (古代中国) exhibition . .	229
3.3.2	Layout and design	237
3.3.3	Content structure and textual style	239
3.3.4	Presentations of human evolution until and including Homo erectus	242
4	Discussion	265
4.1	Cohesive themes and additional constituents of museum narratives of human evolution	266
4.1.1	‘unilinear and continuous evolution’ (cohesive theme)	269
4.1.2	‘labour created humanity’ (cohesive theme)	280
4.1.3	‘ Homo erectus pekinensis taking pride of place’ (cohesive theme)	296
4.1.4	‘an educational core’ (additional constituent)	304
4.1.5	‘political utilisations and ideology’ (additional constituent)	315
4.1.6	Miscellaneous	326
4.2	The scientific context of museum narratives of human evolution	331
5	Conclusion	345
5.1	Results	345
5.2	Contributions	357
5.3	Limitations and outlook	362
	Glossary of Chinese terms for hominin species	365
	References	369
	Appendices	425