

Contents

Introduction	I
PART I Theories	15
PASQUALE VERDICCHIO
Migration, Environment, Representation: A 'sea change into something rich and strange'	17
GRAZIELLA PARATI
Flotsam: Bodies, Trash, and Mediterranean Migrations	35
PART II Practices	53
REBECCA FALKOFF
We'll Always Have Florence: Asbestos, Abatement, and Obsolete Objects at the Piazza dei Ciompi Market	55
SOPHIA MAXINE FARMER
Conserving Fascism's Legacy: The Politics of Waste, Preservation, and Erasure	75
DYLAN GILBERT
Polluted Lands, Poisoned Futures: A Trans-Corporeal Case Study of Scanzano Jonico's Antinuclear Protests	101

PART III Literature	121
CARMINE DI BIASE
Solid Waste Comes to Life in Alessandro Casola's A Munnezza	125
ANNA CHIAFELE
Carlotta's Perdas de Fogu : Toxicity and National Security in the Mediterranean Basin	141
SIMONETTA FALASCA-ZAMPONI
On the Logic of Disposability: Gomorrah 's Invisible Risks	169
MARTINO LOVATO
Trash as a Marker of the Third-World Condition in Sonallah Ibrahim's Dhat	187
VASILIKI PETSA
'A washed pig returns to the mud': The Working-Class in Greek Literature in the Interwar Years and the 1980s	209
PART IV Film	231
LAURA DI BIANCO
Currents in Italian Cinema of the Wasteocene: The Vice of Hope by Edoardo De Angelis	233
ILARIA PULITI
Aesthetics of Toxicity: Disposable Ships and Car Wrecks in Frammartino's Il dono	255

Contents	vii
PART V Afterword	279
GABRIELE GEMINIANI
The Museum of the Rediscovered Objects and Its Inspiring
‘History of the Vanquished’	281
Notes on Contributors	287
Index	293