

Table of Contents

Foreword (by Michael P. Farris)	7
Preface (by Dallas K. Miller)	9
Creature of the State?
Homeschooling, the Law, Human Rights, and Parental Autonomy
(by Michael P. Donnelly)	17
Introduction	17
Brief History of Homeschooling in America.....	21
Lighting the Fuse.....	21
Overcoming Objections.....	24
Making the Grade.....	25
Can't We Just Get Along?.....	27
We Fought the Law and We Won	28
Demarcation	32
United States of America.....	34
European Influence: England, France, Germany, and Canada	38
Conclusion.....	43
Compulsory Education—in Schools Only?
Divergent Developments in Germany (by Thomas Schirmacher)		47
Summary	47
Introduction	48
Paragraph 1666 is Misused.....	53
Responding Educationally.....	55
The Many True Truants.....	57
Freedom of Religion Also Belongs within the Realm of Education.....	59
Make Exceptions!.....	59
Homeschooling as an Alternative for Special Cases	60
Compulsory School Attendance Is a Child of Absolutism	62
Compulsory Education in Germany Is Also a Legacy of National Socialism	63
The Justification of Homeschooling Vis-A-Vis the European Human Rights System (by John Warwick Montgomery)		67
Introduction	67

Philosophical Considerations and Their Relevance to Home- schooling	68
The European Court and Homeschooling.....	71

APPENDIX

The Current Homeschool Situation in Sweden

(by Michael P. Donnelly)	77
Legal Yet Disfavored	77
Documented Cases of Harsh Treatment of Homeschooling Families in Sweden	81
About the Authors	85