

Contents

|                                                               |              |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|--------------|
| Contents                                               | V     |
| List of Figures                                        | IX    |
| List of Tables                                         | XIII  |
| Notation                                               | XV    |
| Kurzfassung                                            | XXI   |
| Abstract                                               | XXIII |
| 1 Introduction                                         | 1     |
| 1.1 Structure of this Thesis . . . . .                        | 4            |
| 2 State-of-the-Art                                     | 7     |
| 2.1 Bioprocess Monitoring . . . . .                           | 8            |
| 2.2 Raman Spectroscopy as PAT Tool for Bioprocesses . . . . . | 11           |
| 2.2.1 The Raman Effect . . . . .                              | 12           |
| 2.2.2 The Raman Spectrum . . . . .                            | 14           |
| 2.2.3 Challenges and Opportunities . . . . .                  | 16           |
| 2.3 Evaluation of Bioprocess Raman Spectra . . . . .          | 20           |
| 2.3.1 Statistical Models . . . . .                            | 20           |
| 2.3.1.1 MLR, PCR, and PLSR . . . . .                          | 21           |
| 2.3.1.2 Application in the Context of Bioprocesses . . . . .  | 22           |
| 2.3.2 Indirect Hard Modeling (IHM) . . . . .                  | 24           |
| 2.3.2.1 The IHM Framework . . . . .                           | 24           |
| 2.3.2.2 Calibration and Prediction . . . . .                  | 26           |
| 2.3.2.3 Extensions for IHM . . . . .                          | 29           |

|          |                                                                                                          |           |
|----------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| 2.3.2.4  | Use Cases of IHM . . . . .                                                                               | 30        |
| 2.4      | Bioprocess Control . . . . .                                                                             | 31        |
| 2.5      | The pH Value as CPP of Bioprocesses . . . . .                                                            | 32        |
| 2.5.1    | Potentiometric pH Monitoring . . . . .                                                                   | 33        |
| 2.5.2    | Spectroscopic pH Monitoring . . . . .                                                                    | 34        |
| 2.6      | Contribution of this Thesis . . . . .                                                                    | 37        |
| 3 | Bioprocess In-Line Monitoring Using Raman Spectroscopy and IHM                                    | 39 |
| 3.1      | Materials and Methods . . . . .                                                                          | 40        |
| 3.1.1    | Chemicals . . . . .                                                                                      | 40        |
| 3.1.2    | Measurement Setup I . . . . .                                                                            | 40        |
| 3.1.3    | Raman Spectra . . . . .                                                                                  | 42        |
| 3.1.4    | Calibration Samples . . . . .                                                                            | 42        |
| 3.1.5    | Glucose-to-Ethanol Fermentation by S. cerevisiae . . . . .                                        | 42        |
| 3.1.6    | HPLC and Spectrophotometric Reference Measurements . . . .                                               | 43        |
| 3.1.7    | Spectral Evaluation Procedure Using IHM . . . . .                                                        | 44        |
| 3.2      | Results and Discussion . . . . .                                                                         | 51        |
| 3.3      | Conclusion . . . . .                                                                                     | 56        |
| 4 | Bioprocess Control Using Raman Spectroscopy and IHM                                               | 59 |
| 4.1      | Materials and Methods . . . . .                                                                          | 60        |
| 4.1.1    | Chemicals . . . . .                                                                                      | 60        |
| 4.1.2    | Measurement Setup II . . . . .                                                                           | 60        |
| 4.1.3    | Raman Spectra . . . . .                                                                                  | 61        |
| 4.1.4    | Glucose-to-Ethanol Fermentations by S. cerevisiae . . . . .                                       | 63        |
| 4.1.5    | HPLC Reference Measurements . . . . .                                                                    | 64        |
| 4.1.6    | Spectral Evaluation Procedure Using IHM . . . . .                                                        | 64        |
| 4.1.7    | On-Off Glucose Controller . . . . .                                                                      | 64        |
| 4.1.8    | Assessment of the Process Monitoring and Control's Quality . .                                           | 65        |
| 4.2      | Results and Discussion . . . . .                                                                         | 66        |
| 4.3      | Conclusion . . . . .                                                                                     | 70        |
| 5 | Bioprocess In-Line Monitoring of the pH Value Using GoodBuffers, Raman spectroscopy, and IHM | 73 |
| 5.1      | Materials and Methods . . . . .                                                                          | 74        |
| 5.1.1    | Chemicals . . . . .                                                                                      | 74        |

|         |                                                             |            |
|---------|-------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 5.1.2   | Measurement Setup III . . . . .                             | 74         |
| 5.1.3   | Experimental Procedure . . . . .                            | 76         |
| 5.1.4   | Raman Spectra . . . . .                                     | 76         |
| 5.1.5   | Calculation of the pH Value . . . . .                       | 77         |
| 5.1.6   | Spectral Evaluation Procedure Using IHM . . . . .           | 79         |
| 5.2     | Results and Discussion . . . . .                            | 81         |
| 5.2.1   | Calibration of the Good pH Probe . . . . .                  | 81         |
| 5.2.2   | Characterization of the Good pH Probe . . . . .             | 84         |
| 5.2.2.1 | Reversibility . . . . .                                     | 84         |
| 5.2.2.2 | Temperature Dependence . . . . .                            | 85         |
| 5.2.2.3 | Sensitivity to the Ionic Strength . . . . .                 | 86         |
| 5.2.2.4 | Applicability in More Complex Systems . . . . .             | 87         |
| 5.2.3   | pH In-Line Monitoring During an Enzyme-Catalyzed Reaction . | 89         |
| 5.2.4   | Evaluation of the Good pH Probe . . . . .                   | 91         |
| 5.3     | Conclusion . . . . .                                        | 92         |
| 6       | Summary and Outlook                                         | 95         |
| 6.1     | Summary . . . . .                                           | 95         |
| 6.2     | Outlook . . . . .                                           | 98         |
|         | Appendices                                           | 101 |
|         | A Pure Component Models                              | 101 |
|         | B Publications and Student Theses                    | 103 |
| B.1     | Journal Publications . . . . .                              | 103        |
| B.2     | Conference Contributions . . . . .                          | 103        |
| B.3     | Student Theses Supervised During this Work . . . . .        | 104        |
|         | Bibliography                                         | 105 |