

Inhalt

Selbstreflexion – Klage – Streit	5
Drei Dimensionen der Worte Hiobs

DER BLICK NACH INNEN: SELBSTREFLEXION

Jürgen van Oorschot
Der »nackte Mensch«	15
Die Hiobgestalt als anthropologische Fallstudie

Tod Linafelt
Job 3 and the Reflective Nature of the Lyric Mode	37

Nikita Artemov
Like a Fortress under Siege	51
Metaphors of the Self and War Imagery in Job's Fifth Speech (Job 16–17)

DER SCHREI NACH OBEN: KLAGEGEBET

Juliane Eckstein
God as Abuser	71
The Theological Significance of a Discomforting Metaphor in the Book of Job

Katharine J. Dell and Brittany N. Melton
“But now my eye sees you” (Job 42:5)	95
Debating Divine Presence and Absence in Job

Brennan Breed
Delighting in an Argument with God	109
Job's Speeches and the “Great Complaint”

Will Kynes
The Intensification of Lament	129
Psalm 39, Job, and Antebellum Spirituals

DAS WORT NACH AUßEN: SOZIALER STREIT

Anja Marschall

Challenging the Limits of the Complaint Psalms 151

Job's Lament and its Transformation into a Rhetorical Argument towards His Friends

Hanneke van Loon

From Lament to Action 169

God's Rejoinder in Job 40:8

Patricia Vesely

A Mouth-full of Trouble 181

The Role of Dispute in Job's Movement through Trauma

Stefan Fischer

Inwards, Outwards, Upwards. 195

Job's Threefold Complaint as a Body Metaphor

Die Autorinnen und Autoren 213