

Contents

Acknowledgments — V

Introduction — 1

- Hermeneutics of Suspicion and Trust — 6
- Revisionism — 9
- New Evidence — 16
- Pauline Scholarship as a Reference Point? — 22
- A New Perspective on Muḥammad — 27
- The Eastern Roman Context — 31
- History and the Themes of Late Antiquity — 35

Chapter One

Paganism and Gentile Monotheism in the pre-Islamic Ḥijāz — 38

- Henotheism — 40
- Religions of the Transjordan-Ḥijāz Region — 45
- Nabataean Religion — 48
- Arabophone Pastoralists — 51
- Allāh as Jupiter in the Roman Era — 52
- Ḥijāz — 60
- The Rise of Allāh — 63
- Quranic Polemics and Neo-Nabataean Cult — 66
- Male Gods and Angels: Other Cults — 68
- Sixth-Century Inscriptions — 73
- Islam and the Theosebeis — 75

Chapter Two

Al-Kawthar and the Near Eastern Religious Legacy — 85

- Safaitic Inscriptions — 87
- A River in Paradise — 89
- Kothar-wa-Khasis — 90
- Baal — 92
- Kothar and the Antiquarians — 92
- Palace and Stream — 97

Chapter Three

The “Christian Sleepers” as an Allegory for the Sasanian Conquest — 105

- Persecution — 106
- Nabataea in Antiquity and Late Antiquity — 112

VIII — Contents

- The Iranians in the Roman Near East — 118
- Sasanian Rule and Christians — 125
- Condemnation of Pagans — 128
- The Sleepers in the Qur’ān — 130
- Sympathy for Christians — 133

Chapter Four

Peacemaking and Reconciliation: Ṣulḥ and Aṣḥaḥ — 139

- Peacemaking — 144
- Redemption — 147
- Moses and Murder — 150
- Forgiving Enemies — 156

Chapter Five

Practices of Literacy and the Collection of the Qur’ān — 159

- Orthographic Revolution — 162
- Textual Additions — 174
- Jesus and the Pagans — 180
- Celsus’ Pagan Critique of Christianity and Maryam 19:34–40 — 185
- Quires — 188
- Scriptoria? — 194

Chapter Six

God’s Biography of the Prophet: Narrative Apostrophe in the Constitution of the Self — 201

- Narrative Apostrophe — 203
- The Prophet’s Life — 207
- Illeism — 211
- Admonishments — 214
- Say! — 216
- POV Shifts — 217
- Telling the Prophet’s Story — 220

Conclusion — 225

Bibliography — 237

Indices — 265