

Table of Contents

9 In the Skin. On the Skin

I — Having a Skin

19 Literary Epidermis: How Deep is the Textual Surface

31 Outlining the Individual Body. Intensifying
Collective Bodies

49 Skin: Its Medial Quality

58 Epidermic Histories of Paper Skin

79 Epidermal Readings I: Three Paths in Machado de
Assis

II — Making Skin

93 The Skin Thought Its Making

109 Epidermal Readings II: Skin and Bones. Carolina Maria de Jesus' Child of the Dark and Unedited Diaries

120 The Skin of Thousands of Pores: Framing Its Political Dimension

131 Wounded, Tattooed, Flagged. Skin of Spirits: Photographing Orixás

138 Undoing the Skin Factory: Rosana Paulino's Black
Bodies Fabrics and the Black Model Presence

153 Skin Against Skin: Violence and other Cultural Wounds

154 Skin and Its Cultural Wounds: Baroque Beyond
Lessons' Plasticity

III — Inventing Skins

164 A Collective Skin: Intimacy, Inoperative Community

169 The Phenomenological Meaning of the Invention of Skin

169	Philological Turning Point: “It is necessary to write squeezed and on both sides.”
188	Procedural Values from the Poemantle to the Skin of the Tongue
203	Epidermal Readings III: Constellation Clarice Lispector: The Discovering Skin, Uncovered Skin
206	Skin: Grafts, Gifts
210	Feather Skins: The Cosmic Mantle
221	From Skin Changes to Skin Remaining: Skin and Cultural Criticism
225	Note
227	References